Supreme Court Shuns Review Of Blue Law

Justice Douglas Files Sharp Dissent In Kentucky Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — Over a sharp dissent from Justice Douglas, the Supreme Court dismissed today a challenge of the constitutionality of Kentucky's Sunday closing law.

But in another case touching on the religion vs. state powers issue, the high court agreed to rule on the question of whether the rights of a member of the Seventh-day Adventist Church were violated when she was denied unemployment compensation after refusing to work on Saturdays. This case comes from South Carolina.

And, in an action of major importance in an era when many manufacturing plants are moved because of tax inducements or other reasons, the high court declined to review and thus let stand a lower court ruling that employees have no vested right to jobs when a plant is moved from one state to another.

The actions were the highlights of the Supreme Court's last opinion day before a Christmas-New Year's recess. It will next hand down opinions on Jan. 7.

Kentucky's blue law differs from the no-work-on Sunday laws in other states in that it contains a clause reading as follows:

"Persons who are members of a religious society which observes as a Sabbath any other day in the week than Sunday shall not be liable (to a penalty) if they observe as a Sabbath one day in each seven."

The law does not mention by name any particular religious group.

The Supreme Court majority, presumably in an 8-1 division, dismissed the challenge of the law with a simple order saying no substantial federal question was presented.

But Justice Douglas filed a dissent saying the clause in the law about observing a Sabbath other than Sunday plainly made it "an aid to all organized religions."

The case the court agreed to hear is an appeal by Adell H. Sherbert, 57, who said she was employed for 35 years in the Beaumont plant of Spartan Mills in Spartanburg, S.C.

In 1957, she said, she joined the Seventh-day Adventist Church and later was discharged for refusal to work on Saturday, her Sabbath.

South Carolina's Employment Security Commission denied her unemployment benefits, citing a state law requiring applicants for compensation must be available for work. The law also provides for disqualification of an applicant if the worker fails to accept available jobs without good cause.

The appeal said Adell Sherbert applied to other mills for work but they were on a six-day basis and she was unwilling to work on her Sabbath. The appeal cited the First Amendment's protection against impairment of free exercise of religion.

The workers-jobs case involved the movement of a plant by Ross Gear & Tool Co. Inc. from Detroit to Lebanon, Tenn.

Berlin Gets Twinkle, Hears Bomb Blast

BERLIN (AP) — Twinkling lights of Christmas trees and the roar of a time bomb marked life along the Berlin wall Sunday.

Mayor Willy Brandt pressed a button lighting 400 trees placed along the Communist barrier. The Communists also put up some trees on their side of the wall.

A bomb blasted a five-foot square in the wall Sunday night about three blocks from the U.S. Army's Checkpoint Charlie. Five minutes before the bomb went off, three men walked into a West Berlin police station, claimed they had planted the device, and urged police to clear the area. The police did and nobody was hurt, but they held the trio for questioning.

Two hours after the blast, East German police placed two wooden doors over the hole.

Parents of 4 Hope To Adopt Additional 9

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Donald Meyers, who have two adopted children and two of their own, receive nine more youngsters into their family today.

"We need children. We want children," Mrs. Jean Meyers told a newsman.

The Meyers, who had seen only photographs, get their first look at their five new daughters and four new sons when they arrive here by air today.

The couple read in the newspapers last Jan. 13 that Mr. and Mrs. Walter Baker were killed when their pickup truck overturned in a ditch near Battle Lake, Minn., orphaning their nine children, ranging in age from 2 to 13.

Meyers asked to be allowed to adopt the children. He wrote Catholic Charities in St. Cloud that "there is room here—in our home and in our hearts."

Since their parents' deaths, the children have been separated and living in foster homes.

Meyers, an amateur mason and carpenter, spent Saturday afternoon putting the finishing touches on a dining table large enough for a family of 15.

AFL-CIO Raps Rhodes Proposal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Certain recommendations of a planning committee appointed by Gov. James A. Rhodes in connection with his proposed industrial growth plan have been sharply criticized by the Ohio AFL-CIO.

In its weekly newsletter, the labor group termed as "anti-consumer" and "anti-worker" recommendations to tighten up laws on unemployment and workmen's compensation and one which would give tax reductions for industry while placing any new taxes on consumers.

The newsletter said the recommendations indicate the committee "thinks any industrial growth should be financed by the consumer and at the expense of the injured and unemployed worker."

Ohio Traffic Kills 9

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — At least nine persons were killed last weekend in traffic accidents in Ohio.

Western Europe Battered By Vicious Winter Storms

LONDON (AP)—Western Europe recovered today from a ferocious winter storm that ripped a wide path of death and destruction.

More than 30 are dead in the wake of hurricane-strength winds that lashed Europe Sunday.

The biggest toll was at sea—at least 21 in the German freighter Nautilus which went down off the Dutch coast. A French fisherman was washed overboard in the English Channel.

In Britain at least eight persons were killed, mostly by falling trees or buildings.

Inland winds topped 100 miles an hour in Britain at times. In Scotland a 117-m.p.h. gust was registered. Houses toppled, great trees were uprooted, roads were blocked and telephone and power lines were torn down.

Few West European countries escaped the blast. But the winds were dying over all the storm-battered countries today. Britain was fanned by a mild, light breeze.

Southern Holland's dikes and the

Heating Unit Due At Memorial Hall

Pickaway County's Board of Commissioners today authorized the installation of a new gas conversion heating unit at the Memorial Hall.

The action was taken after trouble developed in the old stoker unit which now has been in service for about 20 years. The Public Library will be closed starting tomorrow during the indefinite period required for the installation.

Cost of the conversion was set at $1,750. This includes installation labor and all equipment and fixtures.

Actual work was scheduled to start today, although the library will not close until tomorrow. Commissioners said the old stoker unit has broken down and failed to function several times the past few years.

THE STOKER gear formerly was used at Williamsport High School before it was replaced and transferred to the Memorial Hall.

Mrs. Enid Denham, librarian, said the library will be closed indefinitely while the repair is in progress. She said there will be no charge on books falling overdue during this period.

Patrons are reminded that the book depository on Pickaway St. may be used as usual for returns during the closing period. An announcement will be published in The Herald when the library is ready to reopen.

In other business, the Commission authorized the Probate Court to trade a 1949 model car for a 1960 compact. The auto will be used by Mrs. Ruth Neff, a county juvenile officer. The trade-in will be made with the Yates Buick Co.

Payment of routine bills consumed the major portion of the Commission's morning session. The Board was to convene again during the afternoon.

Ohio Prosecutors To Ask Assembly To Fix Blue Laws

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's county prosecutors have decided to ask the next session of the next session of the Ohio Legislature to clarify the state's controversial Sunday closing law.

Although the formal resolution has not been written, the Ohio Association of Prosecuting Attorneys approved a motion Saturday saying the law banning certain Sunday sales needs clarification "for guidance of law enforcement officers."

The motion went on to say that the prosecutors are not opposed or in favor of the present law, but that they are seeking legislative action to take the confusion out of enforcement.

One of the leaders of the campaign to make the law clear is Garver Oxley, Hancock County prosecutor. Oxley claimed the law should be clear enough to allow conformity in all counties.

Oxley said that, since a recent crackdown in his county has caused many merchants to close, "Hancock County residents go in to adjacent Allen County to shop on Sunday."

State Rep. Raymond Hildebrand of Toledo told the prosecutors he will introduce three amendments in the General Assembly, which convenes Jan. 7, to clarify the law.

These, he said, would attempt to exempt businesses involved in the sale of food, drugs, and offices engaged in communications.

In the meantime, Cincinnati and Hamilton County police continued their enforcement campaign of the controversial Sunday closing law Sunday, citing eight businessmen who kept their stores open.

Cited in Cincinnati were officials of the West End Hardware Co.; Saxony Imports; Ben's Department Store and Van Leunen's Chinatown.

Sheriff's deputies issued citations to officials of Econ-Fair; the Ontario Store and two Arian's department stores. All are discount stores.

The Cincinnati merchants must appear in Police Court Jan. 10. The county businessmen must answer summons to county courts Dec. 19.

The eight constituted the largest group arrested in one day here since enforcement of the Sunday closing law began last month.

And in Findlay, city police arrested 11 persons Sunday on charges of violating Ohio's Sunday closing law. Three were teenagers.

Sunday's arrests brought to 16 the number of persons arrested the last three Sundays, the period in which the city's crackdown on blue law violators has been in effect.

Two persons—managers of carry-outs—were arrested Sunday for allegedly selling 3.2 beer.

The other nine persons arrested Sunday were charged with selling Christmas trees in a garden center. Among them were the three teenagers—one 19 and two 17.

U.S. Launches New Satellite

Mariner Still Heard, But Relay Sputters

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new U.S. satellite whirled in orbit a few hundred miles above the earth today while Mariner 2—still flashing signals—speeds millions of miles from earth toward eternal orbit around the sun.

But a third satellite, Relay, which was to take the place of the now silent Telstar, wasn't performing properly.

The new satellite, dubbed Explorer VI, sped aloft Sunday from the Wallops Island, Va., test station of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Space agency officials said it reached an orbit varying from 466 to 733 miles above earth and its "telemetry and experiments appear to be operating satisfactorily."

Main mission of Explorer XVI is to find out more about what meteoroids—tiny bits of solid matter that whiz through space—do to space vehicles and solar cells.

Mariner 2, which took a 42-minute electronic look at Venus Friday, was still faithfully reporting Sunday as it headed into orbit around the sun. The U.S. spacecraft journeyed 109 days through space to give earthbound scientists their closest contact with Venus.

Mariner 2 passed within 21,000 miles of Venus Friday. It was 650,000 miles beyond Venus and 37 million miles from earth Sunday.

Attempts to get the partially crippled Relay's equipment working Saturday failed and NASA officials said further efforts would be postponed indefinitely.

The meteoroids which Explorer VI was sent to examine may be remnants of exploded planets which revolve around the sun.

These minute bits of space matter can hit a satellite with velocities of 7 to 45 miles per second.

The satellite, measuring 24 inches in diameter and 74 inches in length, is built around the motor casing of the fourth stage of the Scout rocket that carried it aloft.

DiSalle Itches To Get Copy Of Jury Data

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—"If I could get my hands on a copy of that grand jury report, I'd release it and see what jail I went to," Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said today.

He expressed belief that release of the report would not be contempt of court or a violation of law.

The governor referred to a report of the ill-fated grand jury that spent seven weeks investigating claims of influence peddling in the Liquor Department.

Common Pleas Court Judge Robert Draper discharged the jury after it was disclosed the foreman had a long prison record. The judge warned that proceedings of the grand jury are secret.

DiSalle said he plans to talk again with Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy, who directed the liquor probe, in the hope of getting a grand jury report. McElroy has said he would not give the governor a copy.

"Everybody seems to have a copy but me," DiSalle reiterated in citing that Sheriff Stacy Hall had said several copies were missing.

The governor said he wanted to "negotiate" with Finance Director James H. Maloon over the Dec. 26 date of Maloon's resignation to work on a research project at the University of Michigan. The resignation has not been accepted, he said.

Report Claims Ole Miss 'Deal'

NEW YORK (AP)—Mississippi's Gov. Ross Barnett—despite public vows of defiance—had made a secret deal with U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to enroll Negro's James H. Meredith at the University of Mississippi, an article in the current issue of Look magazine says.

The article says Barnett conferred by telephone with Kennedy through the four days preceding the Sept. 30 riot at the university and proposed a plan that would allow Meredith to enter Ole Miss.

Reached by telephone for comment on the article, Barnett said: "I haven't seen it. I don't know anything about it, and I have no comment."

Look reported:

The plan called for Barnett and (Lt. Gov. Paul) Johnson to stand at the university's gate, backed up by unarmed state patrolmen. Kennedy was to have Chief U.S. Marshal James McShane and 25 to 30 marshals bring Meredith to the gate.

"Barnett would refuse to let Meredith in. At this point, McShane would draw his gun, and the other marshals would slap their hands on their holsters. Barnett would then step aside and allow Meredith to register. The Mississippi highway patrol would maintain law and order."

"In his talk with Kennedy, the governor worried about how the scene would look to a 'big crowd.' If only one man drew his gun, Barnett felt that he could not back down. So Kennedy reluctantly agreed to have all the marshals draw their guns. Under federal guns, Ross Barnett could surrender to prevent bloodshed."

The article said that on Sept. 30 Barnett telephoned the attorney general and suggested a new plan. The next morning, according to the plan, Barnett "would wait at the university gate backed by a phalanx of state troops—who would be backed by sheriffs, who would be backed by citizens and students."

"Meredith should arrive with a large army force," the article went on. "The governor would read a proclamation barring him from Ole Miss. Then, Kennedy's men should draw their guns. Barnett would, he said, step aside."

The attorney general was incensed, said the article, and warned that "unless Barnett cooperated and helped maintain law and order while Meredith went on campus, the President would go on television and tell the country that Barnett had broken his word. To prove it, the President would

When the British-born actor left Cedars of Lebanon on Nov. 30, a friend confided: "Charles knows he is going to die, and bluster as ever, says he's going to die in his own bed."

With him when he died were actress Elsa Lanchester, his one and only wife, and his younger brother Frank, retired from the family hotel business.

Mrs. Laughton, who married the actor in 1929 and became an American citizen with him in 1950, took the death very hard, Laughton's brother said.

"She has been with him every day through it all—for almost a year," said the brother.

High spots of a career that made Laughton the movies' top character actor for 30 years:

The sadistic Captain Bligh of the original "Mutiny on the Bounty"; the lecherous Henry VIII—the 1933 best actor Academy Award performance—or the lovable English butler reciting the Gettysburg address in a frontier saloon for "Ruggles of Red Gap."

Before he came to Hollywood, Laughton had won critical acclaim for his realistic portrayal of an American gangster in a London play.

His last movie role was that of Sen. Seab Cooley, a Southerner, in "Advise and Consent."

Little was known about Laughton's private life. He loved art—and had a collection of Renoirs, Utrillos, Cezannes and other French impressionists that few ever saw.

A decade ago, Laughton directed and starred in a critical and financial success of "Shaw's" "Don Juan in Hell."

The staging of this work had defied managers for 50 years. The work is the seldom-played third act of "Man and Superman."

The program, called "After Two Years—A Conversation with the President," will be carried by the Columbia Broadcasting System and American Broadcasting Co. television networks at 6:30 p.m. EST and the National Broadcasting Co. television network at 8:30 p.m.

Failure To Register With Agency Claimed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The fate of the American Communist Party is now in the hands of a jury.

U.S. District Judge Alexander Holtzoff gave the dispute to the jury after hearing closing statements by opposing attorneys.

The party is charged with failing to register with the Justice Department as an agent of the Soviet Union.

Both the Justice Department and attorneys for the party acknowledged the facts of the case developed in brief testimony last week in U.S. District Court. The jury will decide what the facts mean—whether the party actually fulfilled the requirements of the law.

Before recessing last Thursday, Holtzoff denied a motion by defense attorneys John J. Abt and Joseph Forer for a directed acquittal. The jury was absent while Abt and Forer argued their motion, but Holtzoff said he had no objection to the points being raised again by the attorneys in their closing statement.

The government called only one witness in the trial, Will Lissner, a veteran reporter of the New York Times. The defense did not call any.

Lissner testified that he had heard Gus Hall announce the Communist party's defiance of the Subversive Activities Control Act.

Lissner quoted Hall as saying at a news conference on June 8, 1961 that the Supreme Court decision last year on the constitutionality of the act "requires the Communist party to commit suicide and we're not going to cooperate. In no way do we intend to comply with the law."

The Justice Department has identified Hall as general secretary of the Communist party. He and Benjamin J. Davis, identified as national secretary of the party, have been indicted in a separate federal case for refusing to register as Communist leaders.

"Throughout history," Abt told the jury in his closing defense statement, "the role of the informer has been an odious one and a despised one. There is a long tradition in our country of minority organizations refusing to give the names of their members and betraying their confidence."

The U.S. attorney, F. Kirk Maddrix, told jurors that the Communist party deliberately failed to register with the Justice Department and so violated the Subversive Activities Control Act.

"There has been ample time for them to determine what they wanted to do," Maddrix said. "It was a deliberate act."

The party, if convicted, could be fined $10,000 for each day of violation.

The indictment specifically covers only an 11-day period, involving a possible penalty of $110,000, plus another $10,000 on a count charging failure to file another form.

The government contends that another indictment covering a different and longer period would be possible.

Cleveland Relaxes In Snow Removal

CLEVELAND (AP)—After 10 days of "round-the-clock efforts to clear Cleveland's ice and snow-clogged streets, city officials relaxed a bit today and said things were pretty well cleaned up.

Meanwhile Cleveland public and Catholic schools prepared to reopen. Catholic schools have been closed since a week ago last Friday, and the 250,000 public school children have had only one day of classes in that period.

Many other schools in Northeast Ohio also were planning to resume classes today, although some are remaining closed through the holidays.

President To Review His Record Tonight

The workers-jobs case involved the movement of a plant by Rosa Gear & Tool Co. Inc. from Detroit to Lebanon, Tenn.

Report Claims
Ole Miss 'Deal'

NEW YORK (AP) — Mississippi's Gov. Ross Barnett—despite public vows of defiance—had made a secret deal with U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to enroll Negro's James H. Meredith at the University of Mississippi, an article in the current issue of Look magazine says.

The article continued: "This had a devastating effect. The governor's resistence seemed to melt away. Again and again Barnett asked that the President say nothing on television that would unveil the nature of the secret phone calls."

Cuba Prisoner
Release Seen
Coming Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Loan of a ship to the Red Cross and reports of activity in the Baltimore port have stirred speculation that negotiations for release of 1,200 Cuban prisoners may be nearing a climax.

The speculation was heightened by these developments Sunday: The Red Cross said the African Pilot had been made available to it for use if necessary, to ship medicines and supplies to Cuba as barter for the captives.

The Baltimore Sun said the African Pilot was raising steam and had signed most of her crew for a sailing time of noon today for Port Everglades, Fla., to pick up the cargo.

The wife of James B. Donovan, New York lawyer who has been negotiating with Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro for the prisoners' release said Sunday night he had left New York, possibly for Washington.

The prisoners were captured in the ill-starred attempt to invade Cuba at the Bay of Pigs in April 1961. Donovan has been negotiating with Castro since August and at one point reportedly was close to an agreement: the prisoners in exchange for medicine and other non-military items in short supply on the Communist island. Castro had asked a ransom of $62 million.

Failure To Register
With Agency Claimed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The fate of the American Communist Party is now in the hands of a jury.

U.S. District Judge Alexander Holtzoff gave the dispute to the jury after hearing closing statements by opposing attorneys.

The party is charged with failing to register with the Justice Department as an agent of the Soviet Union.

Both the Justice Department and attorneys for the party acknowledged the facts of the case developed in brief testimony last week in U.S. District Court. The jury will decide what the facts mean—whether the party actually fulfilled the requirements of the law.

Before recessing last Thursday, Holtzoff denied a motion by defense attorneys John J. Abt and Joseph Forer for a directed acquittal. The jury was absent while Abt and Forer argued their motion, but Holtzoff said he had no objection to the points being raised again by the attorneys in their closing statement.

The government called only one witness in the trial, Will Lissner, a veteran reporter of the New York Times. The defense did not call any.

Lissner testified that he had heard Gus Hall announce the Communist party's defiance of the Subversive Activities Control Act.

Lissner quoted Hall as saying at a news conference on June 8, 1961 that the Supreme Court decision last year on the constitutionality of the act "requires the Communist party to commit suicide and we're not going to cooperate. In no way do we intend to comply with the law."

The Justice Department has identified Hall as general secretary of the Communist party. He and Benjamin J. Davis, identified as national secretary of the party, have been indicted in a separate federal case for refusing to register as Communist leaders.

"Throughout history," Abt told the jury in his closing defense statement, "the role of the informer has been an odious one and a despised one. There is a long tradition in our country of minority organizations refusing to give the names of their members and betraying their confidence."

The U.S. attorney, F. Kirk Maddrix, told jurors that the Communist party deliberately failed to register with the Justice Department and so violated the Subversive Activities Control Act.

"There has been ample time for them to determine what they wanted to do," Maddrix said. "It was a deliberate act."

The party, if convicted, could be fined $10,000 for each day of violation.

The indictment specifically covers only an 11-day period, involving a possible penalty of $110,000, plus another $10,000 on a count charging failure to file another form.

The government contends that another indictment covering a different and longer period would be possible.

Cleveland Relaxes
In Snow Removal

CLEVELAND (AP) — After 10 days of "round-the-clock efforts to clear Cleveland's ice and snow-clogged streets, city officials relaxed a bit today and said things were pretty well cleaned up.

Meanwhile Cleveland public and Catholic schools prepared to reopen. Catholic schools have been closed since a week ago last Friday, and the 250,000 public school children have had only one day of classes in that period.

Many other schools in Northeast Ohio also were planning to resume classes today, although some are remaining closed through the holidays.

Cubans Oppose Castro Regime

Turk Reporter Says Resistance Mounts

NEW YORK (AP) — A Turkish newspaperman just back from Havana says at least 90 per cent of the Cuban people "are—probably more—are against the Communists and against Castro, too."

Goksin Sipahioğlu, a free-lance reporter from Istanbul, said in an interview that there are resistance organizations, but the organizations cannot get together.

The newsmen was in Cuba from mid-October until early December. He said Cubans told him:

The peasants, who were major supporters of Fidel Castro's revolution, angrily but passively are resisting the Communists. The peasants are angry because Castro collectivized the farm lands instead of distributing them among the peasants, as he promised.

Probably 9,000 peasants have been jailed for refusing to work in the fields. They refused because, even if paid, there was nothing to buy.

The skimpy food ration list for one person includes five eggs a month, three-fourths of a pound of a meat a month, one banana a week, oranges only for the sick a pound of potatoes a week and six pounds of rice per month.

On the virtually nonexistent list are cheese, milk, bacon, many kinds of vegetables, soap, wools and linens. Medicines are in very short supply.

Sipahioğlu said he was told the Russians have two major camps in Cuba, one near Holguin in Oriente Province, and one in central Cuba near Ciego de Avila. Cubans are barred from the areas.

Castro rarely is seen in public. He spends most of his time at Havana University, arguing with the students who have been among the chief supporters of his regime. He denounces Soviet Premier Khrushchev violently.

Florida Imposes Ban on Citrus

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — After 6 p.m., today, no fresh citrus fruit can be shipped out of Florida for 10 days.

The Florida Citrus Commission, in an emergency session Sunday, imposed the 10-day embargo to keep off the market citrus fruit that was damaged by last week's record cold spell.

The embargo will continue until 6 p.m., Dec. 27. At that time a new 14-day ban on the shipment of freeze-damaged citrus will begin, to run until 6 p.m., Jan. 10.

During the second embargo, fruit that can pass inspection by the state will be allowed to move out of Florida.

Vikings Top Court House Cagers, 67-56

Larry Beard paced the Teays Valley Vikings to a 67-56 win over Washington C. H. with a 21-point burst in a non-loop cage battle Saturday night at Ashville.

The visiting Court House cagers held a two-point edge at half-time but the Vikings pulled steadily away in the final two periods.

The score at the end of the third quarter was 52-47, Teays Valley leading. In the last canto the Vikings outscored the Blue Lions, 15-9.

Behind Beard in the scoring race was Washington's Ray Joslin, a 6-1 sophomore, with 19 points on eight field goals and three foul shots.

SONNY ROOF hit seven field goals and two charity shots for 16 points, followed by Dan Hollenback's 14 point output for Teays Valley. Leist and Sheets scored eight each.

The Washington reserves won 42-29.

The Viking offense in the first five games this year has been exceptionally well balanced. Hollenback is currently leading the race with 69 points. Beard is close behind with 65. Roof has 55, Leist 52 and Sheets 47 to round out the starting quintet.

Next game for the Vikings is Dec. 28 when they host Greenfield McClain. The McClain cagers will be the third South Central Ohio League school faced by Russ Gregg's cagers.

Teays Valley has beaten Circleville in addition to Court House.

Stock Prices Uneven Today

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market backed away from an early rise and moved unevenly early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

President Kennedy's tax reduction speech Friday night struck Wall Street as indefinite as to details and the effective date, brokers said, so it did not provide as big a stimulus as some expected.

The market was up on balance at the start but there was nothing unanimous about it, and, after a spell, prices softened a little and the list was irregular.

Airlines, drug, electrical equipments, and utilities had a slight bulge to the upside. Steels were mostly lower. Motors, oils, chemicals, aerospace issues, and non-ferrous metals were mixed.

Cubans Oppose Castro Regime

Turk Reporter Says Resistance Mounts

NEW YORK (AP) — A Turkish newspaperman just back from Havana says at least 90 per cent of the Cuban people "and probably more—are against the Communists and against Castro, too."

Goksin Sipahoglu, a free-lance reporter from Istanbul, said in an interview that there are resistance organizations, but the organizations cannot get together.

The newsmen was in Cuba from mid-October until early December. He said Cubans told him: "The peasants, who were major supporters of Fidel Castro's revolution, angrily but passively are resisting the Communists. The peasants are angry because Castro collectivized the farm lands instead of distributing them among the peasants, as he promised."

Probably 9,000 peasants have been jailed for refusing to work in the fields. They refused because, even if paid, there was nothing to buy.

The skimpy food ration list for one person includes five eggs a month, three-fourths of a pound of a meat a month, one banana a week, oranges only for the sick a pound of potatoes a week and six pounds of rice per month.

On the virtually nonexistent list are cheese, milk, bacon, many kinds of vegetables, soap, wools and linens. Medicines are in very short supply.

Sipahoglu said he was told the Russians have two major camps in Cuba, one near Holguin in Oriente Province, and one in central Cuba near Ciego de Avila. Cubans are barred from the areas.

Castro rarely is seen in public. He spends most of his time at Havana University, arguing with the students who have been among the chief supporters of his regime. He denounces Soviet Premier Khrushchev violently.

Florida Imposes Ban on Citrus

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — After 6 p.m., today, no fresh citrus fruit can be shipped out of Florida for 10 days.

The Florida Citrus Commission, in an emergency session Sunday, imposed the 10-day embargo to keep off the market citrus fruit that was damaged by last week's record cold spell.

The embargo will continue until 6 p.m., Dec. 27. At that time a new 14-day ban on the shipment of freeze-damaged citrus will begin, to run until 6 p.m., Jan. 10.

During the second embargo, fruit that can pass inspection by the state will be allowed to move out of Florida.

Vikings Top Court House Cagers, 67-56

Larry Beard paced the Teays Valley Vikings to a 67-56 win over Washington C. H. with a 21-point burst in a non-loop cage battle Saturday night at Ashville.

The visiting Court House cagers held a two-point edge at half-time but the Vikings pulled steadily away in the final two periods.

The score at the end of the third quarter was 52-47, Teays Valley leading. In the last canto the Vikings outscored the Blue Lions, 15-9.

Behind Beard in the scoring race was Washington's Ray Joslin, a 6-1 sophomore, with 19 points on eight field goals and three foul shots.

SONNY ROOF hit seven field goals and two charity shots for 16 points, followed by Dan Hollenback's 14 point output for Teays Valley. Leist and Sheets scored eight each.

The Washington reserves won 42-29.

The Viking offense in the first five games this year has been exceptionally well balanced. Hollenback is currently leading the race with 69 points. Beard is close behind with 65. Roof has 55, Leist 52 and Sheets 47 to round out the starting quintet.

Next game for the Vikings is Dec. 28 when they host Greenfield McClain. The McClain cagers will be the third South Central Ohio League school faced by Russ Gregg's cagers.

Teays Valley has beaten Circleville in addition to Court House.

Stock Prices Uneven Today

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market backed away from an early rise and moved unevenly early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

President Kennedy's tax reduction speech Friday night struck Wall Street as indefinite as to details and the effective date, brokers said, so it did not provide as big a stimulus as some expected.

The market was up on balance at the start but there was nothing unanimous about it, and, after a spell, prices softened a little and the list was irregular.

Airlines, drug, electrical equipments, and utilities had a slight bulge to the upside. Steels were mostly lower. Motors, oils, chemicals, aero-space issues, and non-ferrous metals were mixed.

Circleville Man Fined $50 for Failure To Yield

Robert E. Tigner, 20, Starkey Drive cited by Circleville City police for failure to yield the right of way, was fined $50 and costs in Circleville Municipal Court today.

In other traffic action, eight motorists were cited by the State Highway Patrol for speeding violations and one was cited for parking on the highway.

All signed waivers of court hearings and paid fines. Listed on the docket were:

Richard F. DeBoard, 18, Chillicothe; $15 and costs for speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Albert L. Lang Jr., 23, Columbus; $15 and costs for speeding 60 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Philip A. Miller, 20, Columbus; $20 and costs for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Hugh Conley, 47, Detroit, Mich.; $20 and costs for speeding 80 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

George S. Elam, 29, Columbus; $10 and costs for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Densell W. W. Arledge, 47, of 210 S. Pickaway St.; $15 and costs for parking on the highway.

Suits Filed Against Crash Victim's Widow

An Ashville attorney, his wife and insurance company have filed suits totaling $33,147.90 against Mrs. Anna C. Morgan, Route 1, Ashville, as the administrator of the estate of her deceased husband John D. Morgan, Raymond P. Sou-sie, Route 1, Canal Winchester, was also named as a defendant.

Harry L. Margulis and The State Auto Mutual Insurance Co. were listed as plaintiffs of one suit. Mrs. Betty Margulis is the plaintiff in the second.

Alleged grounds for the lawsuits came as the result of injuries and damages received in a three-car accident on the Circleville-Lock-bourne Road June 13, 1962. Morg-an was fatally injured in the crash.

Both petitions charge the late Mr. Morgan with failing to yield the right-of-way. Sou-sie is charged with failing to have assured clear distance ahead.

Attorney Margulis is seeking judgment in the amount of $6,292.90. The insurance company is asking reimbursement for a total of $1,855 paid to Margulis for repair of his auto. Mrs. Margulis, a passenger in her husband's auto, is seeking a total of $25,000 for injuries received in the accident, medical and hospital expenses and personal injury.

College Signup Seen Nearing Highest Peak

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's college enrollment tidal wave may be reaching the high-water mark—at least temporarily.

The Association of Ohio College Registrars reports that, although over-all enrollment reached an "l-time high this fall, the new freshmen class—which serves as a gauge for future years—declined slightly.

The association said 198,203 students currently are enrolled in credit courses at the state's 54 approved colleges and universities. Of these 132,425 are full-time campus students, or 6 per cent more than last year.

The freshmen students total 41,838, or 2 per cent less than last year. Nationally there was a three-tenths of a per cent increase in freshmen enrollments.

Minor Injuries Listed in Two-Car Crash

Minor injuries were listed in a two-car crash shortly after 10 a.m. today at Route 104 and the Florence-Chapel Road, northwest of Circleville.

Driver of one vehicle, Daniel Phillips, 21, Chillicothe, and his passenger, Jim Doersam, 22, also of Chillicothe, were taken to Ber-g-er Hospital for observation and emergency treatment.

Stella Jane Jones, 25, Route 1, Ashville, driver of the second vehicle, complained of chest in-juries. She was referred to a doc-tor after refusing hospital treat-ment, Deputy Warren Straley said.

Miss Jones, cited for failing to observe a stop sign, pulled into the path of Phillips' auto headed north on Route 104, Deputy Straley said.

Both vehicles were declared to-lal losses by the investigating of-ficer.

Macmillan Wings For Bahama Talk With U.S. Chief

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan left today for talks in the Bahamas with Presi-dent Kennedy, expressing confi-dence that "we will find a way through our difficulties" over the Skybolt missile.

"At this moment after Cuba," Macmillan told newsmen, "we have to try to make a reassess-ment of the position between East and West. In the position be-tween us, we have to find a way through our difficulties" over the Skybolt missile.

He said the troubles in Asia, particularly between Red China and India, have raised a whole new set of problems.

"Our chief purpose is to talk over what has happened since our last meeting," Macmillan said.

Presl from a Paris conference with French President Charles de Gaulle at which "close agree-ment" on defense views was an-nounced, Macmillan is to meet with U.S. officials who plainly frown on the development of na-tional nuclear deterrents.

While Britain and France have pressed forward with their nuclear programs, the United States has urged a multi-national type force under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and a buildup in the non-nuclear side of the European military forces.

The controversy over the U.S.-developed Skybolt missile, which looms as the major subject of the Bahamas talks, may bring this de-bate to a peak.

The United States says it may scrap the air-launched missile be-cause of a string of test failures and the cost, although Britain has been counting on it to insure its national deterrent role.

President Kennedy has de-scribed the Skybolt, which is fired from a plane at targets 1,000 miles away, as a very sophisticated missile whose development may require $2.5 billion in addi-tion to the half billion already spent by his country.

Without the skybolt or a sub-stitute, Britain would have no modern independent nuclear de-terrent of its own.

U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, who held prelimi-nary talks with the British on the Skybolt issue last week, also is going to Nassau. McNamara re-ported to Kennedy Sunday on his talks.

The Skybolt affair also kicked up a storm in Washington. Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., said Sunday the powerful Senate Armed Services Committee, of which he is a member, is 2 to 1 against dropping the missile and "I understand the joint chiefs of staff also oppose any cutback."

In a televisio. interview (ABC- Issues and Answers), Symington said the Armed Services Com-mittee will want to hear from the joint chiefs on Skybolt plans after Congress reconvenes in January.

When Macmillan and Kennedy arranged their Dec. 19-20 Baha-mas meeting, the purpose was to review East-West relations in the wake of the Cuban crisis and the Chinese invasion of India.

These issues are now expected to take second place to the im-mediate problem of Britain's role in Western nuclear defense strategy.

STAR GRANGE

A carry-in supper preceded the regular meeting of Star Grange Tuesday evening when they met for their annual Christmas party.

The worthy master, Carroll Reid presided over the business session. The secretary Helen Schleich read a "thank you" note from Unicef, also a Christmas greeting from Mrs. John Dowler. An appeal for aid was answered, a contribution was made to the State Youth Fund and a Christmas seal bond was purchased.

The home economics chairman, Mrs. Francis Furniss thanked everyone for their help at the card party last Saturday night and told of the sewing and baking contests that will be coming up this spring and urged members to participate.

The lecturer, Harold Furniss opened his program "Keeping Christ in Christmas" with a reading, "For Christmas" by Florence Long. The chaplain, Mrs. Francis Furniss, read the Christmas story from Luke 2:8-15 followed by meditations. The lecturer read, "A Merry, Merry Christmas", with the audience responding in unison.

Mrs. Paul Dawson read "The Solitary Life" and the group joined in singing Christmas carols, with Helen Schleich at the piano.

Following the reading, "The First Christmas", by Linda Reid a gift exchange was enjoyed around the gaily lighted Christmas tree.

The next meeting will be held January 8th and the third and fourth degrees will be conferred on a class of candidates. This will also be inspection. All members are urged to attend.

Mr. Shnoo's Zoo

BY LUCRECE BEALE

CHAPTER 13 MONKEY BUSINESS

Santa went back to the office with Mr. Shnoo. There they found a letter for Mr. Shnoo written on fine white paper with the letterhead engraved in gold.

"Her Royal Highness will visit Shnoo's Zoo the day after tomorrow," said the letter.

"At last!" said Mr. Shnoo. He rushed about the office putting things in order. "Thank goodness, we are ready for her!"

"I hope you will be the day after tomorrow," said Santa.

"Why shouldn't we be?"

"Too many strange accidents have happened," said Santa. "I believe someone is trying to harm the zoo because he does not want you honored by the Queen."

"Pshaw!" said Mr. Shnoo. "I don't believe it!"

"Well," said Santa. "I shall stay here until the Queen comes for there is certainly something mysterious going on and, to tell the truth, I am curious."

Mr. Shnoo fixed up a bed for Santa next to his own and they went to sleep telling each other animal stories.

That night the watchman was going on his rounds when he saw what appeared to be the sun rising over beyond the fish pond. Because it wasn't time for the sun to rise, the watchman thought he was seeing things as a result of an upset stomach.

But while he rubbed his eyes and considered going to his locker for some bicarbonate of soda, he heard a crackling noise and the sound of all the monkeys in the zoo screaming in fright. At the same time the sunrise became a bright orange color and the watchman smelled smoke.

He turned on his heel and raced off to Mr. Shnoo's house shouting, "Fire! Fire! The monkey house is on fire!"

Everyone in the zoo came running but when they got to the monkey house there was so much smoke they could not enter. Firemen rushed up with hoses. They made everyone stand back while they poured water on the house. The monkeys screeched and

He and the monkeys were on an island surrounded by fire.

howled. Finally Mr. Shnoo could stand it no longer. He put his coat over his head and rushed by the firemen and into the house. He did not need to see. He knew every cage by heart and the name of every monkey.

Quickly he broke a sky light. Then he raced around opening the cages and calling out the monkeys.

"Fanny, Robert, Hazel!" He boosted them out of the cages and they fled through the sky light. They did not need urging. Hundreds of monkeys rushed out. When they were safe Mr. Shnoo climbed up and huddled with them on the roof.

Smoke whirled around them and flames began to lick the edges of the roof. The firemen raised ladders but they could not climb through the flames. Neither could Mr. Shnoo climb down. He and the monkeys were on an island surrounded by fire and soon the island would be on fire, too.

Mr. Shnoo tried to be calm told himself that Santa would save them but how it could be done he could not imagine. Really he was quite frightened.

Suddenly he heard a shout go up from the onlookers below and Mr. Shnoo looked down and saw everyone gazing off into the sky. Mr. Shnoo looked up, too, and saw all his reindeer swooping down from above. Shaking their antlers and tossing their heads, the deer slimmed over the tips of the flames and glided down to the roof top.

A little fat man looked down from the back of Horace, the lead deer, and greeted Mr. Shnoo with a wave of his hand.

"The Reindeer Express!" he shouted. "Hop on!"

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Dec. 17, the 351st day of 1962. There are 14 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this day in 1944, the Battle of the Bulge developed in World War II when the Germans began an offensive on the western front. During this battle Nazi Storm Troopers machine-gunned 80 American war prisoners in what is known as the infamous Malmedy Massacre.

On this day: In 1791, the first regulation for one-way traffic is said to have been established in New York due to a performance at the John Street Theater.

In 1819, Colombia under Simon Bolivar was united with Venezuela.

In 1895, George Brown patented the first paper twine machine.

In 1945, Buffalo and upstate New York were buried by a 50-inch snowfall at the end of a four-day blizzard.

In 1960, a U.S. military plane crashed at Munich, Germany, killing 49.

Today's birthdays: Painter Paul Cadmus is 58. Novelist Erskine Caldwell is 59.

No Weakening Predicted in Steel Market

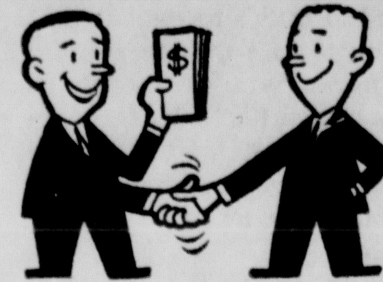

CLEVELAND (AP) — Many steelmakers expect their December shipments to equal, and bookings to exceed, last month's presaging a business upturn through the first half of 1963, Steel magazine said today.

In a market stronger than it has been since April and not expected to weaken between now and January, some users have asked that deliveries be withheld until after Jan. 1 because of year-end inventory taxes, the weekly trade journal said.

"Automakers, appliance manufacturers and other users who have depleted their inventories are steady the market," said Steel. "Products in best demand are all types of sheets and bars." Ordering for immediate needs will prevail until there's a stiffening in mill promises—not likely before March — the publication added.

STAR GRANGE

A carry-in supper preceded the regular meeting of Star Grange Tuesday evening when they met for their annual Christmas party.

The worthy master, Carroll Reid presided over the business session. The secretary Helen Schleich read a "thank you" note from Unicef, also a Christmas greeting from Mrs. John Dowler. An appeal for aid was answered, a contribution was made to the State Youth Fund and a Christmas seal bond was purchased.

The home economics chairman, Mrs. Francis Furniss thanked everyone for their help at the card party last Saturday night and told of the sewing and baking contests that will be coming up this spring and urged members to participate.

The lecturer, Harold Furniss opened his program "Keeping Christ in Christmas" with a reading, "For Christmas" by Florence Long. The chaplain, Mrs. Francis Furniss, read the Christmas story from Luke 2:8-15 followed by meditations. The lecturer read, "A Merry, Merry Christmas", with the audience responding in unison.

Mrs. Paul Dawson read "The Solitary Life" and the group joined in singing Christmas carols, with Helen Schleich at the piano.

Following the reading, "The First Christmas", by Linda Reid a gift exchange was enjoyed around the gaily lighted Christmas tree.

The next meeting will be held January 8th and the third and fourth degrees will be conferred on a class of candidates. This will also be inspection. All members are urged to attend.

Mr. Shnoo's Zoo

BY LUCRECE BEALE

CHAPTER 13 MONKEY BUSINESS

Santa went back to the office with Mr. Shnoo. There they found a letter for Mr. Shnoo written on fine white paper with the letterhead engraved in gold.

"Her Royal Highness will visit Shnoo's Zoo the day after tomorrow," said the letter.

"At last!" said Mr. Shnoo. He rushed about the office putting things in order. "Thank goodness, we are ready for her!"

"I hope you will be the day after tomorrow," said Santa.

"Why shouldn't we be?"

"Too many strange accidents have happened," said Santa. "I believe someone is trying to harm the zoo because he does not want you honored by the Queen."

"Pshaw!" said Mr. Shnoo. "I don't believe it!"

"Well," said Santa. "I shall stay here until the Queen comes for there is certainly something mysterious going on and, to tell the truth, I am curious."

Mr. Shnoo fixed up a bed for Santa next to his own and they went to sleep telling each other animal stories.

That night the watchman was going on his rounds when he saw what appeared to be the sun rising over beyond the fish pond. Because it wasn't time for the sun to rise, the watchman thought he was seeing things as a result of an upset stomach.

But while he rubbed his eyes and considered going to his locker for some bicarbonate of soda, he heard a crackling noise and the sound of all the monkeys in the zoo screaming in fright. At the same time the sunrise became a bright orange color and the watchman smelled smoke.

He turned on his heel and raced off to Mr. Shnoo's house shouting, "Fire! Fire! The monkey house is on fire!"

Everyone in the zoo came running but when they got to the monkey house there was so much smoke they could not enter. Firemen rushed up with hoses. They made everyone stand back while they poured water on the house. The monkeys screamed and

He and the monkeys were on an island surrounded by fire.

howled. Finally Mr. Shnoo could stand it no longer. He put his coat over his head and rushed by the firemen and into the house. He did not need to see. He knew every cage by heart and the name of every monkey.

Quickly he broke a sky light. Then he raced around opening the cages and calling out the monkeys.

"Fanny, Robert, Hazel!" He boosted them out of the cages and they fled through the sky light. They did not need urging. Hundreds of monkeys rushed out. When they were safe Mr. Shnoo climbed up and huddled with them on the roof.

Smoke whirled around them and flames began to lick the edges of the roof. The firemen raised ladders but they could not climb through the flames. Neither could Mr. Shnoo climb down. He and the monkeys were on an island surrounded by fire and soon the island would be on fire, too.

Mr. Shnoo tried to be calm told himself that Santa would save them but how it could be done he could not imagine. Really he was quite frightened.

Suddenly he heard a shout go up from the onlookers below and Mr. Shnoo looked down and saw everyone gazing off into the sky. Mr. Shnoo looked up, too, and saw all his reindeer swooping down from above. Shaking their antlers and tossing their heads, the deer slimmed over the tips of the roof top.

A little fat man looked down from the back of Horace, the lead deer, and greeted Mr. Shnoo with a wave of his hand.

"The Reindeer Express!" he shouted. "Hop on!"

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Dec. 17, the 351st day of 1962. There are 14 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1944, the Battle of the Bulge developed in World War II when the Germans began an offensive on the western front. During this battle Nazi Storm Troopers machine-gunned 80 American war prisoners in what is known as the infamous Malmedy Massacre.

On this day:
In 1791, the first regulation for one-way traffic is said to have been established in New York due to a performance at the John Street Theater.

In 1819, Colombia under Simon Bolivar was united with Venezuela.

In 1895, George Brown patented the first paper twine machine.

In 1945, Buffalo and upstate New York were buried by a 50-inch snowfall at the end of a four-day blizzard.

In 1960, a U.S. military plane crashed at Munich, Germany, killing 49.

No Weakening Predicted in Steel Market

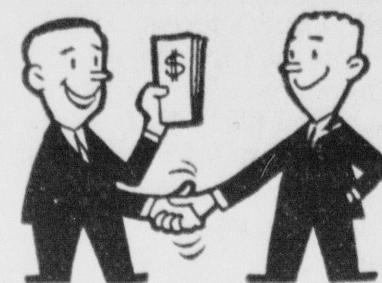

CLEVELAND (AP) — Many steelmakers expect their December shipments to equal, and bookings to exceed, last month's pre-saging a business uptrend through the first half of 1963, Steel magazine said today.

In a market stronger than it has been since April and not expected to weaken between now and January, some users have asked that deliveries be withheld until after Jan. 1 because of year-end inventory taxes, the weekly trade journal said.

"Automakers, appliance manufacturers and other users who have depleted their inventories are steady in the market," said Steel. "Products in best demand are all types of sheets and bars." Ordering for immediate needs will prevail until there's a stiffening in mill promises—not likely before March — the publication added.

January shipments probably will be 10 per cent higher than December's, according to the magazine.

Steel looks for ingot production this week to be about the same as the 1,858,000 tons it estimates the industry poured last week.

Painful Decision

It was perhaps too much to expect that an agency of government would hold to its own unanimous agreement to abolish itself. This was the action taken by the Atomic Energy Commission last May 11, when it advocated its replacement by a single commissioner in a letter to Budget Director David Bell.

This action coincided with the announced intention of the administration to ask Congress for the abolition of the AEC, in favor of a commissioner of atomic energy. Now, however, the commission has appointed a three-man team of advisers to review its original decision and to recommend from several alternatives the future makeup of the commission.

Among alternatives now mentioned are reduction in the number of commissioners from five to three, strengthening of the role of the chairman as chief administrative officer, and the elevation of the commission's general manager into its chief executive officer with the commission acting as a board of directors."

Lately many corporations have been worrying out loud about their public image—which, as I gather, is pretty much like looking at yourself in a crazy mirror in an amusement park and hoping that passers-by won't think the reflection is the real you.

Anyway, more and more corporations seem to be spending more and more money trying to improve their image.

It is my opinion that one's image of a big and complex corporation is built up from fantasies early in life, or as the result of confused collisions with reality as one grows older. The individual's mental picture of a large business

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market break and the profit squeeze were among the things this year that boosted the trend toward leasing rather than owning production and office equipment. And the new depreciation rules and the more optimistic business feeling should further its growth in 1963.

That's the view of leaders in the leasing business, as you might expect, when they assess the changes in their rapidly growing form of financing. One change is the lengthening of the term of leases and another is lower rates in many instances.

Leasing is done either by the manufacturers themselves who rent out their products rather than sell them, or by outside firms specializing in this form of financing.

They estimate that American companies this year leased $900 million of production and office equipment, for a gain of 25 per cent over 1961. This doesn't include the renting instead of owning of plants, stores, hotels, commercial buildings and other real estate.

The financing firms estimate the total for production and office equipment should top $1 billion in 1963. And the trend toward

Try and Stop Me

ONE OF THE DEANS at N.Y.U. recently engaged a young history professor in a game of ping-pong. The young professor, too eager to show his prowess, was way off form and was soundly trounced. "You tightened up too much," the dean told him when the match was over. "After this, try to remember an adage I've repeated to myself since I was a boy: a teacher should never be taut."

A pompous history professor from the U.S. was invited to address a group of university students while he was visiting Tokyo. The Japanese dean acted as interpreter, writing the gist of the professor's remarks in Japanese symbols on the blackboard. Soon, however, the Japanese dean put down his chalk and stopped writing. Later the American professor asked him why. "Here in Japan," explained the dean with a respectful bow, "we only write when the speaker says something."

Old-time baseball fans never forget Babe Ruth—nor Grantland Rice's tribute to him, written just moments after the Babe had passed on:

"Game called by darkness; let the curtain fall, No more remembered thunder sweeps the field. No more the ancient echoes hear the call To one who wore so well the sword and shield. The Big Guy's left us with the night to face, And there is no one who can take his place."

Inside You and Yours
By BURTON H. FERN, M. D.

How will you talk if your voice box has to be cut out?

It's inside your Adam's apple. Above it, the surgeon sews your windpipe tightly shut. Below, he joins your air passage to an opening low in the neck.

Now you're a "neck breather". When you breathe, air passes in and out through that neck opening.

You still eat food as usual. Only your windpipe is disconnected.

Most neck breathers wear scarfs or dresses with high collars to hide the opening. They want to look like everyone else. And they do, even when found unconscious, in need of artificial respiration.

But mouth-to-mouth breathing won't work. You can blow until you're blue in the face; air can't reach the lungs. For artificial respiration, you have to breathe into that opening.

Neck breather identification cards don't help. Few first-aiders search their victims. It's against the law.

But bracelets and medallions like Medic-Alert's can identify neck breathers at a glance.

You can speak without your voice box. Normally, it makes noise which your mouth, throat and nose shape into sounds. With a throat microphone like those worn by World War II pilots, neck breathers can shape sounds from an electronic buzzing.

Effort To Define Words

EDITOR'S NOTE — This article was written prior to the death of George E. Sokolsky. The veteran columnist died Wednesday night at the age of 69. His writings appeared in 229 newspapers across the country and have been published in The Herald for many years.

The principal business of the Supreme Court of the United States is to discover the precise meaning of words written toward the end of the 18th Century and to apply that meaning, including intent and motivation, to the second half of the 20th Century. One reason that this country has survived so long with only one civil war is that its written Constitution has been made flexible by Supreme Court decisions. Otherwise, it would have burst through its seams many times as it grew.

There have been times when the Supreme Court was regarded by so-called Liberals as a vicious institution which existed to restrain progress; at other times, the Conservatives regarded the Supreme Court as the very work of the Devil, designed to alter our form of government without regard to the Constitution or the rights of Congress under the Constitution. It depends upon whose goose is cooked. These days, the Liberals find the Court very comforting.

Recently, there has been fierce excitement over a part of the First Amendment, particularly over the words "establishment of religion." Decisions on this subject have been numerous since 1947. The Supreme Court has felt itself called upon to decide an undecidable subject, namely, what is meant by "establishment of religion" and how it applies to school children. An established church in the 18th Century meant one supported by the State such as the Anglican Church in England. But what does it mean now?

It is difficult to understand what business some of this is of the Supreme Court. Schools are the most local of our institutions. Down to the village level, there are school committees and school boards. Nevertheless, in the case of Everson v. Board of Education, the Court held that state payment for bus rides for children who go to parochial schools is not a violation of the Constitution.

It was a correct decision if one had to be made. The case should have been thrown out of court because no American child should be deprived of benefits given to any other American child.

The next big case, McCollum v. Board of Education in 1948, was an insult to intelligence and decency. In this case, a woman who claimed to have an atheistic child felt that it placed him in an unbragable position when other children went on released time and he sat alone. Therefore, she wanted released time on school premises abolished. The Supreme Court agreed with her, giving the impression that the Supreme Court preferred atheism. This impression was, of course, incorrect. The Court was merely trying to interpret the word, establishment, and only proved that it was defective in its definition.

In Zorach v. Clauson in 1952, the Court corrected an erroneous impression by deciding that released time was permissible off school premises, requiring an adjustment of school schedules, to accommodate the needs of children for religious education.

In Torcaso v. Watkins in 1961, the Court held that the state may not require an oath affirming belief in God as a condition to holding State office. So the phrase, "So help me God," was knocked out. In fact, in many courts, an oath is taken by merely raising one's hand rather than by placing it on the Bible. This decision is definitely antagonistic to three centuries of tradition and history on this continent and is absurd reasoning, because if an oath is not taken to God, to whom or what is it taken?

Now, arises the question of Christmas and Hanukkah celebrations. Christmas celebrations have taken place in American schools as long as there have been schools. In some places, where the majority of the children are Jews, there have been Hanukkah celebrations. Christmas has become, next to the Fourth of July, the leading national holiday of this country. Hanukkah is more a nationalistic than a religious holiday among the Jews and represents the exploits of Judah Maccabeus and his brothers against Rome and the Roman pollution of the Temple. Both are joyous holidays.

Why children should be deprived of joy only a bigot can understand.

resulted from replacement of two of their members since the spring recommendation was made. Second thoughts on the advisability of one-man authority over a field as important to national security — and one which is growing as rapidly as atomic energy — may have assisted in prompting another look.

The role of the AEC has changed from the fledgling years of atomic development, when administrative efficiency was sacrificed for a wider array of approaches and ideas to a difficult and dangerous assignment. In recent years the Pentagon has assumed much of the responsibility for nuclear weapons development and control leaving the AEC with little to do but oversee a relatively routine expansion of peace time nuclear energy.

This would seem to be an opportune time in the history of nuclear development to adopt a more efficient system of government regulation, but the efficiencies of one-man rule must be judiciously measured against an increasingly arbitrary centralization of authority in a field which holds great potentials for the economy.

By Hal Boyle

firm may be widely different from that held by those who run it.

During a bout with insomnia the other night, I fell to thinking of the problem of "corporate images." Here are a few that loomed before a dozing brain—and I don't think the corporation will mind some gentle spoofing:

Du Pont—A kindly dentist fixed a nylon tooth in my mouth and then said, beaming, "Now you can eat all the plastic corn on the cob you want. Better living through chemistry."

American Telephone & Telegraph—A fine-faced gray-haired old man saying into a telephone, "Yes, son, we are always glad to have you call us long distance, but this time I simply can't afford to send you the money," and an operator all alone at a huge switchboard, saying, "Please get it right this time. The number you want has been changed to 365-049-657-102-thuh-ree, thuh-ree, nigh-on."

General Electric—He wears a picture of Thomas Edison in his lapel, and as you give him a burned out light bulb he hands you a new one and observes, "Progress is our most important product."

General Motors—A tall, well-dressed man gets out of his large long car to remove a compact caught in his bumper.

you are on a five-year or longer basis. When leasing of equipment started some 10 years ago terms generally were for only a year or two.

Some half dozen leasing corporations that operate on a national basis have grown to the point where they now can obtain funds in the money market at lower interest than when they started as small concerns. This has allowed them to bring lease rates down, an important sales point in the increasingly competitive world of finance.

"The profit squeeze in many industries is helping our business," says Robert Sheridan, president of Nationwide Leasing Company, Chicago, "because it cuts the cash flow and increases the need for other financing of new equipment wanted for cost cutting."

"The stock market break also led to more leasing by companies that formerly turned to the public for new long term capital."

"The new depreciation rules for tax purposes, as they spark increased capital spending, will help our business because we are allowed by the law to pass on the credit to our lessees."

Big leasing corporations have turned to many specialized functions. One is financing mergers and acquisitions by buying the assets of the smaller company and leasing them back to the merged company. Another is underwriting the growth of medium sized family-owned businesses. Leasing permits them to expand without diluting their equity or surrendering control of their firms.

Other functions leasing corporations stress in their sales talk is the converting of fixed assets into working capital by sale and lease-back, and allowing companies in highly competitive fields to acquire new equipment without draining their current funds.

"Just GREAT! My piano teacher quit. I got kicked out of dancing class, an' my sister's gettin' married. How are things with you?"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ONE OF THE DEANS at N.Y.U. recently engaged a young history professor in a game of ping-pong. The young professor, too eager to show his prowess, was way off form and was soundly trounced. "You tightened up too much," the dean told him when the match was over. "After this, try to remember an adage I've repeated to myself since I was a boy: a teacher should never be taut."

A pompous history professor from the U.S. was invited to address a group of university students while he was visiting Tokyo. The Japanese dean acted as interpreter, writing the gist of the professor's remarks in Japanese symbols on the blackboard. Soon, however, the Japanese dean put down his chalk and stopped writing. Later the American professor asked him why. "Here in Japan," explained the dean with a respectful bow, "we only write when the speaker says something."

Old-time baseball fans never will forget Babe Ruth—nor Grantland Rice's tribute to him, written just moments after the Babe had passed on:

"Game called by darkness: let the curtain fall,
No more remembered thunder sweeps the field.
No more the ancient echoes hear the call
To one who wore so well the sword and shield.
The Big Guy's left us with the night to face,
And there is no one who can take his place."

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M. D.

How will you talk if your voice box has to be cut out?

It's inside your Adam's apple. Above it, the surgeon sews your windpipe tightly shut. Below, he joins your air passage to an opening low in the neck.

Now you're a "neck breather." When you breathe, air passes in and out through that neck opening.

You still eat food as usual. Only your windpipe is disconnected.

Most neck breathers wear scarfs or dresses with high collars to hide the opening. They want to look like everyone else. And they do — even when found unconscious, in need of artificial respiration.

But mouth-to-mouth breathing won't work. You can blow until you're blue in the face; air can't reach the lungs. For artificial respiration, you have to breathe into that opening.

Neck breather identification cards don't help. Few first-aiders search their victims. It's against the law.

But bracelets and medallions like Medic-Alert's can identify neck breathers at a glance.

You can speak without your voice box. Normally, it makes noise which your mouth, throat and nose shape into sounds. With a throat microphone like those worn by World War II pilots, neck breathers can shape sounds from an electronic buzzing.

Effort To Define Words

By George Sokolsky

EDITOR'S NOTE — This article was written prior to the death of George E. Sokolsky. The veteran columnist died Wednesday night at the age of 69. His writings appeared in 229 newspapers across the country and have been published in The Herald for many years.

The principal business of the Supreme Court of the United States is to discover the precise meaning of words written toward the end of the 18th Century and to apply that meaning, including intent and motivation, to the second half of the 20th Century. One reason that this country has survived so long with only one civil war is that its written Constitution has been made flexible by Supreme Court decisions. Otherwise, it would have burst through its seams many times as it grew.

There have been times when the Supreme Court was regarded by so-called Liberals as a vicious institution which existed to restrain progress; at other times, the Conservatives regarded the Supreme Court as the very work of the Devil, designed to alter our form of government without regard to the Constitution or the rights of Congress under the Constitution. It depends upon whose goose is cooked. These days, the Liberals find the Court very comforting.

Recently, there has been fierce excitement over a part of the First Amendment, particularly over the words "establishment of religion." Decisions on this subject have been numerous since 1947. The Supreme Court has felt itself called upon to decide an undecided subject, namely, what is meant by "establishment of religion" and how it applies to school children. An established church in the 18th Century meant one supported by the State such as the Anglican Church in England. But what does it mean now?

It is difficult to understand what business some of this is of the Supreme Court. Schools are the most local of our institutions. Down to the village level, there are school committees and school boards. Nevertheless, in the case of Everson v. Board of Education, the Court held that state payment for bus rides for children who go to parochial schools is not a violation of the Constitution.

It was a correct decision if one had to be made. The case should have been thrown out of court because no American child should be deprived of benefits given to any other American child.

The next big case, McCollum v. Board of Education in 1948, was an insult to intelligence and decency. In this case, a woman who claimed to have an atheistic child felt that it placed him in an unbragous position when other children went on released time and he sat alone. Therefore, she wanted released time on school premises abolished. The Supreme Court agreed with her, giving the impression that the Supreme Court preferred atheism. This impression was, of course, incorrect. The Court was merely trying to interpret the word, establishment, and only proved that it was defective in its definition.

In Zorach v. Clauson in 1952, the Court corrected an erroneous impression by deciding that released time was permissible off school premises, requiring an adjustment of school schedules, to accommodate the needs of children for religious education.

In Torcaso v. Watkins in 1961, the Court held that the state may not require an oath affirming belief in God as a condition to holding State office. So the phrase, "So help me God," was knocked out. In fact, in many courts, an oath is taken by merely raising one's hand rather than by placing it on the Bible. This decision is definitely antagonistic to three centuries of tradition and history on this continent and is absurd reasoning, because if an oath is not taken to God, to whom or what is it taken?

In the case of Engel v. Vitale, the Court held that a state-established prayer — even though it is non-sectarian — violates the First Amendment. This decision created consternation throughout the country and gave rise to a widespread agitation against the Supreme Court.

Now, arises the question of Christmas and Hanukkah celebrations. Christmas celebrations have taken place in American schools as long as there have been schools. In some places, where the majority of the children are Jews, there have been Hanukkah celebrations. Christmas has become, next to the Fourth of July, the leading national holiday of this country; Hanukkah is more a nationalistic than a religious holiday among the Jews and represents the exploits of Judah Maccabeus and his brothers against Rome and the Roman pollution of the Temple. Both are joyous holidays.

Why children should be deprived of joy only a bigot can understand.

Anniversary To Be Observed

MR. AND MRS. JAMES HULSE SR.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hulse Sr., 488 Carpenter St., Columbus, former residents of Pickaway County, will observe their golden wedding anniversary Christmas Day.

Their daughter, Mrs. Clarence Peake and Mrs. Melvin Crist, will honor them with open house from 2 to 5 p. m. at the Peake residence, 2518 Spaatz Ave., Columbus.

Mr. Hulse and Miss Hester Hinton were married Dec. 25, 1912, by the late Rev. G. J. Troutman in the Lutheran Church parsonage, Circleville. They lived in Pickaway County for many years.

The couple are the parents of eight children, Mrs. Peake, Mrs. Crist, Robert and Shirley, all of Columbus; James Jr., Westerville; Lowell, Dayton, and Doyle, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. One son Danny is deceased.

They have 18 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Library Staff Members Hold Christmas Party

Members of the Pickaway County District Public Library held a dinner Friday evening at the Wardell Party Home. Also present were former members of the staff.

Following the dinner they assembled in the home of Mrs. Lester Wolford, Route 2, Williamsport, for a gift exchange and party including a visit by Santa Claus.

Attending were Miss Jessie Cummings, Mrs. Enid Denham, Mrs. Wolford, Mrs. Maxine Dowler, Mrs. Celia Denofre, Mrs. Ruth MacDonald, Mrs. Clarence Hancher Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Loring Valentine, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Owens, Mrs. Clayton Vaughn, Miss Joan Vaughn, Mrs. Vernon Weiler and Steve Weiler.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Make an 'Official' Change!

DEAR ABBY: For the past 24 years of our marriage we have spent Thanksgiving and Christmas with my husband's mother, who lives 40 miles away. She is now 80, and for the last 24 years we have felt it might be her last because she has not been feeling well. I used to make a big Thanksgiving dinner for the entire family. We had all my husband's brothers and sisters and their children, and it was fun. But for five years now, after all the plans were made, I'd get a call the day before that Mother didn't feel up to the confusion, and we ended up taking her to the hotel for dinner—minus the children. The children are growing up and I want the whole family together at my home at holiday time. What can I do? The holidays have been ruined for so many years. I am sick of hearing "it may be Mother's last."

HELP

DEAR HELP: Franklin Roosevelt changed the official date of Thanksgiving and so can you. Next year have your big Thanksgiving dinner at home, with all the children—the day before Thanksgiving—or the day after. Take Mother out on Thanksgiving Day to keep her (and your husband) happy. And celebrate Christmas Eve with your family at home—and Christmas Day with Mother.

DEAR ABBY: Our son came home from Korea. His first week home he just sat around the house enjoying the luxury of being home. He also taught our parakeet to swear. It is very embarrassing to us, but our son seems to think it is a big joke. What should we do?

SGT.'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Get another parakeet and teach it to pray for the one who swears.

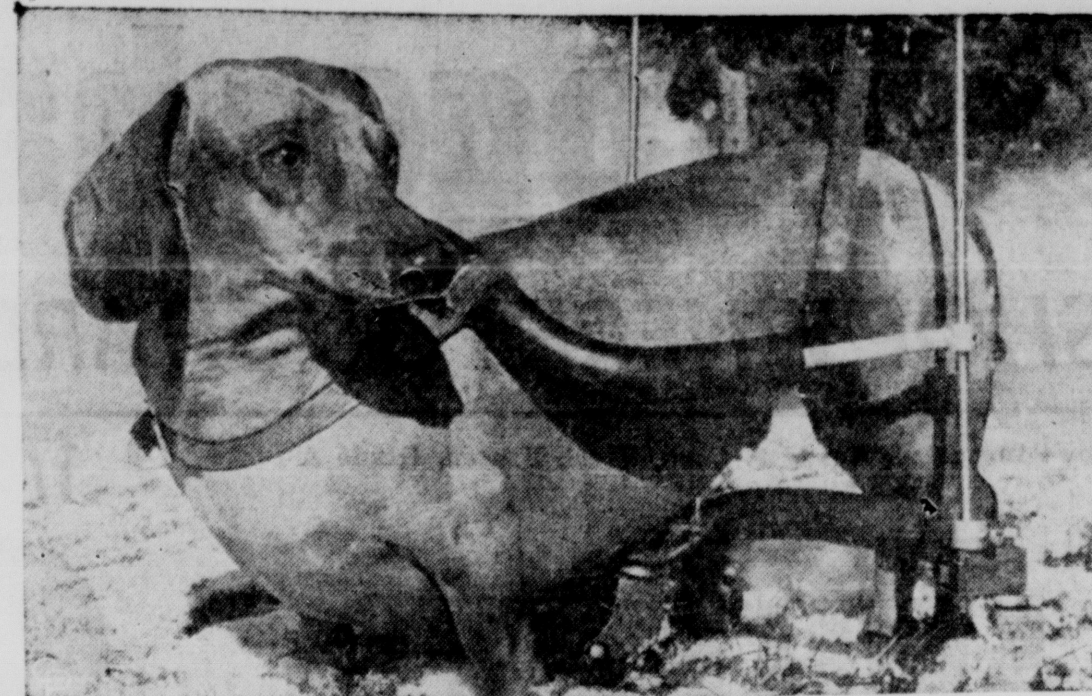

DEAR ABBY: Our son married a girl who handles all the money and makes all the decisions. He has had a piano since the age of five and he loves to play. When he was married we gave him his piano. It was a fine piano and he got great enjoyment from it. Well, they moved into a new home and his wife sold the piano to strangers for $200. She claimed she didn't have room for it. (She had room for a seven-foot bar in her den, though.) Now they are making their basement into a recreation room and she suddenly decided they needed a piano. She has been hunting right and left that we should buy them one. Would you if you were us?

THE OLD FOLKS

DEAR OLD FOLKS: Why punish your son? He has enough problems. If anyone needs the relaxation and tranquility playing the piano provides, your son does. If you intend to give him a gift, buy him a piano—with no strings!

DEAR ABBY: For you and that bewildered Mr. Tucker, who wanted to find out where the expression "all tucked out" came from. It dates back to the old English dialect. It originated from "tucked up"—which means cramped for space. It finally came to mean "all worn out" or "all tucked out". I don't know why you go so tucked out trying to get this information. I got it from the English Department at the University of Minnesota in less than an hour. "FRESH AS A DAISY" (MINNEAPOLIS)

SLIPPED DISC—Fritz uses this auxiliary equipment to get around the home and yard in Kansas City, Mo. A slipped disc left his hind legs paralyzed. Every day Mrs. Mabel Mayhan takes him to a chiropractor, and about every other day he gets a whirlpool bath.

Dear Abby: Make an 'Official' Change!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: For the past 24 years of our marriage we have spent Thanksgiving and Christmas with my husband's mother, who lives 40 miles away. She is now 80, and for the last 24 years we have felt it might be her last because she has not been feeling well. I used to make a big Thanksgiving dinner for the entire family. We had all my husband's brothers and sisters and their children, and it was fun. But for five years now, after all the plans were made, I'd get a call the day before that Mother didn't feel up to the confusion, and we ended up taking her to the hotel for dinner—minus the children. The children are growing up and I want the whole family together at my home at holiday time. What can I do? The holidays have been ruined for so many years. I am sick of hearing "It may be Mother's last."

HELP

DEAR HELP: Franklin Roosevelt changed the official date of Thanksgiving and so can you. Next year have your big Thanksgiving dinner at home, with all the children, the day before Thanksgiving—or the day after. Take Mother out on Thanksgiving Day to keep her (and your husband) happy. And celebrate Christmas Eve with your family at home—and Christmas Day with Mother.

DEAR ABBY: Our son came home from Korea. His first week home he just sat around the house enjoying the luxury of being home. He also taught our parakeet to swear. It is very embarrassing to us, but our son seems to think it is a big joke. What should we do?

SGT'S MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Get another parakeet and teach it to pray for the one who swears.

DEAR ABBY: Our son married a girl who handles all the money and makes all the decisions. He has had a piano since the age of five and he loves to play. When he was married we gave him his piano. It was a fine piano and he got great enjoyment from it. Well, they moved into a new home and his wife sold the piano to strangers for $200. She claimed she didn't have room for it (She had room for a seven-foot bar in her den, though.) Now they are making their basement into a recreation room and she suddenly decided they needed a piano. She has been hunting night and left that we should buy them one. Would you if you were us?

THE OLD FOLKS
DEAR OLD FOLKS: Why punish your son? He has enough problems. If anyone needs the relaxation and tranquility playing the piano provides, your son does. If you intend to give him a gift, buy him a piano—with no strings!

DEAR ABBY: For you and that bewildered Mr. Tucker, who wanted to find out where the expression "all tucked out" came from. It dates back to the old English dialect. It originated from "tucked up" — which means cramped for space. It finally came to mean "all worn out" or "all tucked out". I don't know why you go so tucked out trying to get this information. I got it from the English Department at the University of Minnesota in less than an hour.

Home Improvement Loans Available to Senior Citizens

Under the Senior Citizens Housing Act of 1962, loans are now available to persons 62 years and older to buy, construct, or improve their homes in rural areas. Funds may also be used to buy a building site or an existing home and provide or improve water and sewerage disposal systems, according to the Farmers Home Administration, London.

Each applicant must be a senior citizen without an adequate dwelling, including related facilities for his own use and without resources to provide them on his own account. He must also be unable to get needed credit from other sources upon terms and conditions he can reasonably meet, a spokesman noted.

If the applicant lacks ability to repay the loan, a co-signer may be acceptable if his income is sufficient together with the applicant's to repay the loan.

The interest is four per cent on Senior Citizen Housing loans and can be scheduled for repayment up to 33 years.

Other changes under the 1962 Housing Act include authority to grant up to $1000 to an owner-occupant of a residence who is not able to repay a loan and whose health needs repairs essential to health and safety.

The Farmers Home Administration is an agency of the United States Department of Agriculture and is authorized to make loans to farmers for most farm needs including purchasing or refinancing farm land and buildings, making land and facility improvements and purchasing livestock farm equipment feed, seed, fertilizer, gasoline and livestock expenses. These loans are available to applicants who have satisfactory farm experience or training and cannot get needed credit elsewhere at reasonable rates and terms. Interest rates are five per cent and repayment terms can be extended up to 40 years for real estate loans and seven years for chattel loans.

More information may be obtained by contacting Wade E. Jeffers, county supervisor, at 159 1/2 E. Main Street, Circleville, from 10 a.m. until noon each Tuesday.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Temperatures moderated over Ohio Sunday, and a considerable amount of the snow cover melted.

Temperatures dipped into the 20s over most of the state Sunday night as skies were clear in all except the eastern counties.

Findlay reported 24 degrees early today. Cincinnati had 25 and Columbus 26.

Today is forecast to be the warmest day in almost two weeks in Ohio. Afternoon temperatures will reach the 40s in the central and southern counties and the upper 30s near Lake Erie.

Cloudiness tonight will accompany a cold front approaching from the northwest. Tuesday temperatures will be a little colder, especially in the northern counties.

A few scattered snow flurries may occur near Lake Erie tonight and Tuesday.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECASTS
SOUTHERN & CENTRAL OHIO — Temperatures will average one or two degrees above normal. Normal high 38-45, normal low 23-28. Moderate temperatures first part of week, much colder latter part of week accompanied by about one-half inch of precipitation.

NORTHERN OHIO — Temperatures will average three to seven degrees above normal. Normal high 33, normal low 20-25. Early normal beginning of period, warmer Thursday and Friday colder Saturday. Precipitation will average one-half inch or more melted in a few snow flurries Tuesday, rain about Friday, snow end of week.

Firestone To Make Synthetic Rubber

Views on Television - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Television entertainment these days is getting deeper and deeper in medical themes."

Sunday night, even good old "Bonanza" had a hero who was a dedicated frontier doctor. We watched him pour, in the classic manner, ether in a cone and have his brow mopped as he did a little lung surgery on one of the Ponderosa boys. The hangman's rope awaited him outside the surgery but his hand was as steady as a rock—that's dedication.

This was followed immediately on NBC by "The Citadel of Doctor Shannon." I never read the A. J. Cronin novel from which it was allegedly adopted, but the television's Doctor Shannon was a dedicated research man raging in an epidemic around him.

The rather fuzzy point of the shapeless and wandering story seemed to be that too much dedication to vaccine interferes with romance — something I already had picked up from Drs. Casey and Kildare.

I'm sorry to say I'm getting a little tired of doctor shows. And that includes the mandatory spoof of "Ben Casey" by a comic on every variety show every week.

Dinah Shore has Bing Crosby for her guest star on her Feb. 17 show. Incidentally, Alan Handley, who produced those 15-minute Dinah Shore shows in the good old days before Dinah expanded to an hour, will produce the Jan. 20 program. Guest stars are Liberace and Peter Nero, both pianists but quite different in their approaches to the instrument.

John Larkin, the hero in the CBS soap opera, "Edge of Night" for five years, and the good, gray city editor in NBC's current but cancelled "Saints and Sinners," is going to upset his fans, who are legion. He'll be the villain who actually shoots Marsha Dillon in the Jan. 5 episode of "Gunsmoke." (He played the killer once in a "Perry Mason" episode, which must have confused some people, because he was the voice of radio's "Perry Mason" for seven years.)

Recommended tonight: "Ben Casey," ABC, 10-11 (EST)—Burgess Meredith is the guest star.

Pilot Lands Plane Easily In Park Lot

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The hard part was easy and the easy part turned out to be more difficult than pilot William Whitehouse Jr. and the Montgomery County Sheriff's Office had expected.

Whitehouse, 35, of Covington, Ky., was enroute from New Philadelphia to Cincinnati Saturday night in a single-engine Civil Air Patrol plane. The craft ran out of gas over North Dayton, and Whitehouse calmly landed the plane between parked cars in a crowded shopping center.

The sheriff's department figured the pilot could take off on the huge parking area Sunday when no cars were around. The Federal Aviation Agency had other ideas.

An official ruled Whitehouse could not take off because the shopping center is too close to residential areas.

So Whitehouse must dismantle his plane today, have it trucked to Cox Municipal Airport at near-by Vandalia and put back together again before he can finish his trip to the Queen City.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Things look upside down and wrong side up as 1962 slithers toward a close in this dizzy world where mankind has been its own worst enemy.

Soviet troops in Cuba may be more help than danger, at least temporarily.

Gigantic Russia's relations with her gigantic Red Chinese ally never looked worse.

And U.S. allies may be worried because American-Russian relations suddenly seem better but for the worst reasons.

Russia, in addition to medium and intermediate range missiles which she meekly withdrew under American pressure, gave Fidel Castro other weapons.

The Russian troops sticking around, perhaps to handle those other weapons in the very unlikely case of an American invasion, may be serving another purpose which benefits the United States.

They may be also keeping the Soviet weapons out of the hands of Castro's unpredictables, particularly if they're the kind which could be used against the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo.

An attack on that base would really put the fat in the fire for then the United States would probably feel compelled to invade.

And if that happened Premier Khrushchev would probably feel compelled to go to Cuba's assistance—unless he washed his hands of Castro altogether—and then all the fat there is would be in the fire.

It was Khrushchev's withdrawal of his missiles that set the Red Chinese loose in their worst burst of vituperation against the Russians. Khrushchev has replied in kind.

At this moment no one seems to know, and this includes the Russians and Chinese, whether the Red allies will split and thus split the Communist world or somehow continue to do business while loathing each other in public.

For sheer hypocrisy and deceit.

nothing since World War II matched the Soviet attempt to put missiles in Cuba, aimed at the United States, while insisting they were strictly defensive.

Once the scheme was discovered and Khrushchev backed down, relations between the United States and Russia became, if not downright cordial, at least amazingly non-hostile.

Last week before the Soviet parliament the Russian leaders, from Khrushchev down, were so pleasant about the United States that in Paris the speech of Foreign Secretary Andrei Gromyko was regarded as "virtually pro-American."

K of C Enjoys Yule Party

Hannan Council 5297, Knights of Columbus, held its Christmas dinner Saturday evening in the party room at Prairie Lanes Recreation Center.

Thirty one members and their wives and guests attended. Mrs. Neil Abbott and Mrs. Warren Elliott each won a holiday table arrangement fashioned by Mrs. William Brenner. Bernard Glockner won a holly wreath dolly crocheted by Mrs. Ed Joyce.

William Thornton, grand knight, presented awards to Jerome Koester, Warren Elliott, Ed Joyce, Cyril Kohlbeck, William Browning, Neil Abbott and Paul Schilling for their work in the recent youth ticket program which ended Dec. 8.

Grand Knight Thornton then introduced, guests of the council. Presented were District Deputy and Mrs. George Flynn, District Warden Bernard Glockner, all of Portsmouth Council 741; Past District Deputy and Mrs. Robert Sommers, Grand Knight and Mrs. James Groeber, and Mrs. Donald Kaltenbach, all of Chillicothe Flaget Council 1071; Richard Goshorn and Miss Carol Schilling.

It's too soon to say whether the purgation of the spirit which the two foes endured in the Cuban crisis has created an era of new and better relations between the United States and Russia.

But Sunday French officials said they understood President De Gaulle, at his meeting with British Prime Minister Macmillan, expressed concern at the possibility a special American-Soviet relationship might be developing.

This may seem an odd reaction since De Gaulle has hoped for a new and better relationship between Russia and the West to assure a long period of peace for Europe.

The most dramatic sign of a Washington - Moscow understanding, as De Gaulle was said to see it, lay in the plan, endorsed by President Kennedy, for a so-called hot line between the White House and the Kremlin.

The idea behind such fast communication would be to lessen the chance of accidental nuclear war. To this extent Paris endorses it.

But some French authorities fear this kind of direct tie-in might lead to direct political exchanges between the United States and Russia, making them both less concerned about Europe, particularly France and Britain.

All these things are bits of unfinished business, unimagined at the start of 1962, as the old year drizzles out.

Ladies' Girdles Prove To Have Vast Capacity

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — How much can be put into a girdle?

Most wearers of the devices feel lucky if they can get themselves into them, but for two women arrested in a discount store here Sunday, the abdominal bindings served as storehouses of merchandise.

One woman, who weighs about 240 pounds, had stuffed into her girdle 43 pairs of women's hose, 32 pairs of men's stockings, 14 shirts, pairs of anklets and 3 shirts.

Another had enough room for herself and 33 pairs of women's hose, 20 pairs of men's stockings, 7 slips, a boy's cap, a pair of trousers and a set of girl's pajamas.

"They, another woman and a man were held on investigation of shoplifting. All are from the Indianapolis area.

Their names were not released.

Roads Are Better Than Last Week

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Highway conditions are far better than last week, but northern Ohio still has a lot of slippery roads.

The Highway Department reported today that both primary and secondary roads are generally slippery in spots northeast of a line marked by Lima, Upper Sandusky, Millersburg and Woodsfield. Roads still are partly snow-covered in Jefferson County.

Otherwise, main routes including the Ohio Turnpike, are in normal condition. Some secondary roads in west-central and south-eastern Ohio still are slippery in spots.

New, Encouraging Treatment Now Available to Mentally Ill

EDITOR'S NOTE—New and encouraging treatments for the mentally ill today are replacing the centuries-old idea of hiding victims behind asylum walls. Here, in the first of five special reports, is a look at what's being done to help those who run into emotional buzz saws.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Just before midnight one December evening, his emotional pain became too intense.

And so a middle-aged man exploded into a shouting volcano of rage, then surrendered to helpless sobbing.

By taxi, his wife took him to a new kind of hospital clinic offering emergency first aid—24 hours a day—for emotional injury, a kind of mental health clinic.

Across the city, worried parents discussed their son, a bright boy of 12 who was inexplicably failing in school, and decided to take him to a mental health clinic.

In a suburb, a family doctor arranged for a young mother to enter a nearby general hospital where her mental illness would be treated as rapidly as the hospital treated physical sickness.

The man, the boy and the woman had two things in common. Each had run into an emotional buzz saw, and it hurt.

But each lived in communities offering new or expanding facilities to treat, cure or prevent mental and emotional illnesses.

At the emergency clinic, the man of 50 was given a tranquilizer, and he talked with a psychiatrist, learning that his feelings of frustration and depression were not uncommon, taking the first step toward understanding and dealing with his problems.

At the mental health clinic, specialists began helping the boy and his parents understand their own attitudes and family relationships which were prompting the boy into rebellion because he felt he was being treated unfairly.

At the general hospital, the young mother began treatment to overcome the deepening depression shattering her life. Having her family nearby would also aid her quicker return home.

These are a few of the elements in a heartening change of climate regarding mental illness, the nation's No. 1 disease in number of victims.

The change is sweeping through state mental hospitals. Once they were mainly dull, lock-away jails for "the insane." Today, the best hospitals are sending the vast majority of newly admitted patients back to home and health.

Generating the winds of change are drugs, intensive psychotherapy, increased hospital staffs, earlier treatment, a variety of new community facilities and more enlightened public understanding and interest. Now there are sound prospects for preventing much mental illness.

Pioneers are marking the way. But across the land, the record is spotty, with many states, counties and cities lagging behind.

The challenges are enormous and a crisis looms unless far more widespread action is taken. Philip E. Ryan, executive director of the National Association for Mental Health, warns. Mental patients fill half the nation's hospital beds. One in 10 Americans is mentally ill in mild to severe degree.

One survey indicates four out of five city dwellers have some symptoms of emotional disturbances, and the rate could be as high in rural areas. Ten per cent of public school children are estimated to be emotionally disturbed, in need of help.

The tempo and stresses of modern life may play a role.

What goes wrong? Dr. William Menninger of the renowned Menninger Clinic in Topeka, Kan., puts it this way: Everyone sooner or later runs into some emotional buzz saw. And it's painful.

The trouble may involve job, marriage, family, school, a tragedy, approaching retirement, failure to achieve goals, something arousing fear, anxieties, doubts, anger, depression or other deep emotional reactions.

Many of us manage to handle these problems, adapting and maintaining balance.

But millions become upset, seeing the world slightly out of focus. Many get ulcers or other physical pains and disease.

Many turn to drink, to drugs, to bizarre behavior, to anger, to circular worrying over the same old problems.

Other millions break down completely, retreating into some private world, with severe illness.

There is no single cause of mental illness, authorities agree.

"None of us is always perfectly healthy mentally," Dr. Menninger says. "Each of us has emotional quirks and problems. We can only approach mental health, and then we run against a buzz saw, we aren't quite as mentally healthy as we were, and may again become."

Of all illnesses, says Dr. Menninger, mental illness has the highest recovery rate, with a big if—if the person receives prompt, skilled care.

Consistent Tigermen Hand Reynoldsburg 69-44 Defeat

IT'S UP THERE — Circleville players Bob Waple, Pete DeNeef, Doug Dunkle and Bob Diltz and Jerry Frazier and Doug Redman of Reynoldsburg are gazing toward the bankboard as they all converge to rebound following a Tiger field goal attempt late in the game here Saturday. (Photos by Ron Warren)

By STEVE JONES

The Circleville high school hard-wooders, fashioning one of their more consistent four quarters of basketball, rolled to an easy 69-44 win over Reynoldsburg here Saturday night.

The Tigers jumped to an early lead, scoring nine points before the Raiders could tally and went ahead, 17-4, at the end of the first quarter. Reynoldsburg scored only one field goal.

By halftime, with the aid of the Bengal Bandits as Coach Paul Reiss paltooned again, Circleville was out front 36-14.

During the final two periods, with the Tiger coach substituting freely, the Red and Black widened the margin to 60-31 by the three quarter mark.

THE STARTING lineup in Saturday's tilt was Dave Hannahs, and Tom Smith at forwards, Cleson Thomas at center and Garold Dade and Bob Purcell at guards.

Midway through the second period and leading 27-14, Reiss sent in his shock troops again — not because their hustle was needed but to give game experience to as many players as possible.

But the unit — made up of Freddie Moore, Dave Bass, George Trego, Bob Waple and Johnny Pharr — showed no mercy on the visitors.

They tallied nine points for the remainder of the period while holding the Raiders scoreless.

Second half starters were Bass and Purcell at guards, Hannahs and Smith at forwards and Trego at the pivot post.

Practically every combination of players that Reiss tried produced.

THE LAST two games have given local cage fans a good look at the bench strength of Circleville. The spectators haven't been disappointed.

Following the game Reiss noted that the win was strictly a team effort. Of the 15 players who saw action for Circleville, 11 of the broke into the scoring column.

The Tiger cagemaster said the defense is improving — "anytime you hold a team to one field goal in a quarter you're not playing bad defense." But he went on to say that there were spells when the defense relaxed, noting that this will have to be corrected.

Hannahs led the point parade for the second consecutive night, dunking eight field goals and one charity toss for 17.

Smith had eight, Dade nine, Purcell eight and Waple and Trego six each.

The Tigers pumped a total of 82 attempts toward the bucket from the field, connecting on 30. At the free throw line they netted nine of 25, not an overwhelming average.

REYNOLDSBURG, paced by John Heischman and Bob Nease with 12 each, hit 18 of 57 field attempts and eight of 18 at the charity lane.

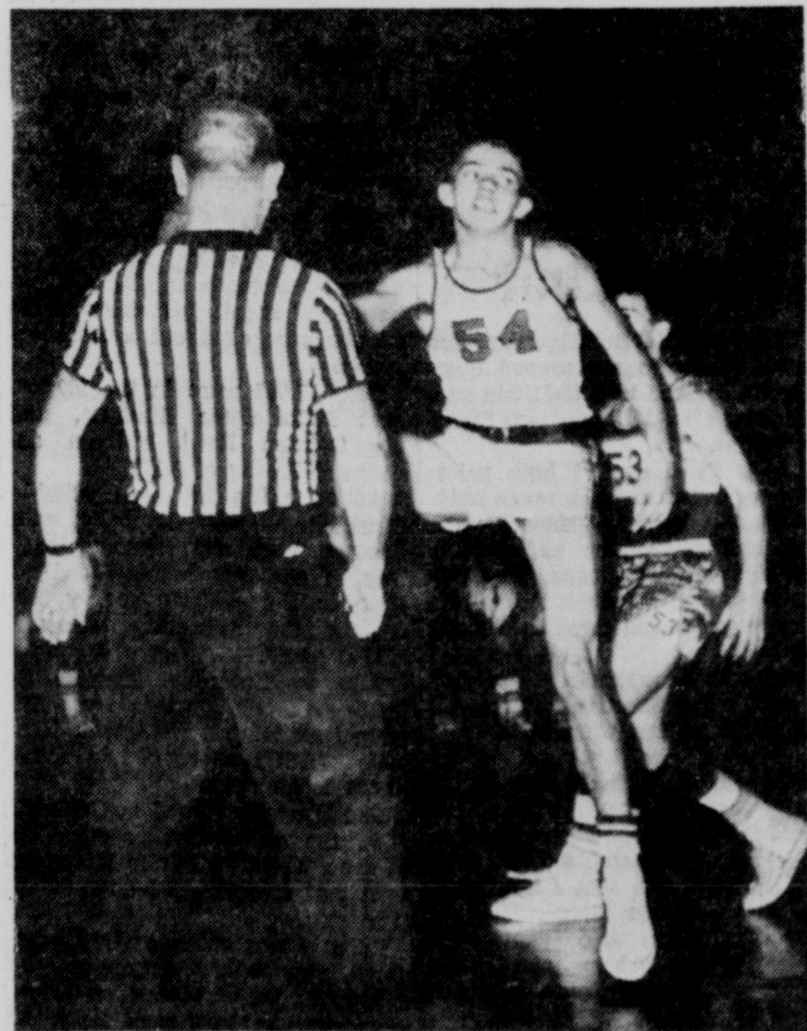

The Tiger coach noted that the confidence of the team was beginning to show.

"We have a lot of work to do yet," he said, closing a post game interview to go over statistics of the Miami Trace-Hillsboro contest with freshman coach Bill Mosure who scouted the Tiger's next opponents.

The game was almost a complete reversal of a tilt played

DAVE HANNAHS

Hannahs Rated Top Player By Cage Efficiency Charts

Dave Hannahs, senior forward on the Circleville High School basketball team, won top player honors in both the Washington C.H. game Friday and Reynoldsburg game Saturday, it was announced today by Paul Reiss, Tiger Cage coach.

Efficiency charts kept during the game by the coaching staff gave Hannahs a rating of 72 in the Court House game and 103 in the Raider tilt.

Besides sinking the game winning foul shot Friday the Tiger forward cleared ten rebounds off the boards, hit six of 10 field goal attempts, was credited with one assist and had only one turnover marked against him.

Saturday night he was again high point man, grabbed nine rebounds, was credited with six recoveries, hit eight of nine attempts according to the staff charts and had only three turnovers.

OTHER Circleville cagers rating high were Bob Waple with 34 and Bob Purcell with 33 Friday. Saturday Garold Dade had an 82, Purcell a 56, George Trego 42, and Bob Waple 34.

Reiss noted today that the Tiger defense is improving although the cagers still need a lot of practice on switching men in their man to man defense.

Tomorrow night Circleville will have a practice scrimmage at Logan Elm immediately after school.

Friday they travel to Miami Trace for their last cage contest until Jan. 4 when they host Franklin Heights here.

Wildcats Lose Initial SVC Tilt, 61-50

A determined Unioto basketball team overcame a seven-point first quarter deficit Saturday night to down host Laurelville, 60-51, in a Scioto Valley Conference tilt.

In the final period the visiting team scored 19 points while the Wildcats could garner only 10. Foul trouble — they lost Pete Poling and John Young — hurt the hosts.

Neff of Unioto scored 18 points, gaining game honors and leading his team to the win. Bowling and King added able assistance with 15 and 12 respectively.

Delong headed the Wildcat quintet with 17 points. Young had 14 and Poling 11.

The next game for the Wildcats is with Darby tomorrow night. The Hocking County school's gymnasium will be the playing site.

The Laurelville reserves won easily, crushing Unioto 50-19.

The Circleville reserves also came through Saturday, bouncing back from a defeat the night before to beat the Reynoldsburg sophomore outfit, 53-23.

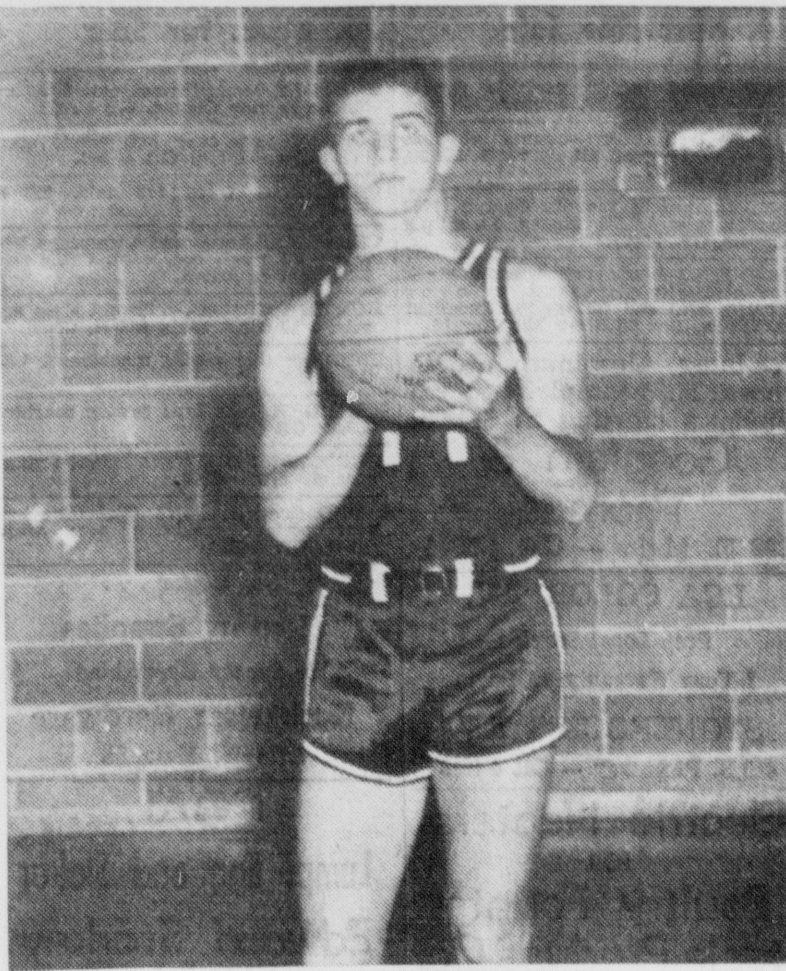

John Maxwell found the range for 25 points, outscoring the entire Reynoldsburg aggregation.

RON SEWARD added 10 while John Thomas and Doug Roth scored six and seven respectively. Reserve coach Don Neff said his team looked like a completely different ball club as everything they tried seemed to work.

Jim Clymer was the leading scorer for the Reynoldsburg crew. Friday Circleville travels to the new Miami Trace High School for Bill Kunkel, drafted by the Yankees from Toronto for $25,000 at the winter baseball meetings, had a 3.38 earned run average for eight innings with Kansas City early last season. He allowed three runs on homers.

DAVE HANNAHS

Hannahs Rated Top Player By Cage Efficiency Charts

Dave Hannahs, senior forward on the Circleville High School basketball team, won top player honors in both the Washington C.H. game Friday and Reynoldsburg game Saturday, it was announced today by Paul Reiss, Tiger Cage coach.

Efficiency charts kept during the game by the coaching staff gave Hannahs a rating of 72 in the Court House game and 103 in the Raider tilt.

Besides sinking the game winning foul shot Friday the Tiger forward cleared ten rebounds off the boards, hit six of 10 field goal attempts, was credited with one assist and had only one turnover marked against him.

Saturday night he was again high point man, grabbed nine rebounds, was credited with six recoveries, hit eight of nine attempts according to the staff charts and had only three turnovers.

OTHER Circleville cagers rating high were Bob Waple with 34 and Bob Purcell with 33 Friday. Saturday Garold Dade had an 82, Purcell a 56, George Trego 42, and Bob Waple 34.

Reiss noted today that the Tiger defense is improving although the cagers still need a lot of practice on switching men in their man to man defense.

Tomorrow night Circleville will have a practice scrimmage at Logan Elm immediately after school. Friday they travel to Miami Trace for their last cage contest until Jan. 4 when they host Franklin Heights here.

Wildcats Lose Initial SVC Tilt, 61-50

A determined Unioto basketball team overcame a seven-point first quarter deficit Saturday night to down host Laurelville, 60-51, in a Scioto Valley Conference tilt.

In the final period the visiting team scored 19 points while the Wildcats could garner only 10. Foul trouble — they lost Pete Poling and John Young — hurt the hosts.

Neff of Unioto scored 18 points, gaining game honors and leading his team to the win. Bowling and King added able assistance with 15 and 12 respectively.

Delong headed the Wildcat quintet with 17 points. Young had 14 and Poling 11.

The next game for the Wildcats is with Darby tomorrow night. The Hocking County school's gymnasium will be the playing site.

The Laurelville reserves won easily, crushing Unioto 50-19.

Bowling Green Taking Aim at Top 10 Rating

Falcons Win Fourth, May Join Bearcats, OSU on Elite List

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bowling Green, a team with 11 lettermen back from last year's squad which lost only four games, appears to have its sights set on joining Cincinnati and Ohio State in the select Top Ten of the nation.

The Falcons posted victory No. 4 Saturday night, third-ranked Ohio State made it five straight and the nation's top team, Cincinnati, won its sixth of the season to highlight one of the classiest basketball schedules of the season.

Bowling Green whipped Western Kentucky 83-58, the first time the Falcons have ever won at Bowling Green, Ky. Ohio State ended its current home stand with a 74-62 decision over stubborn Texas Christian, and Cincinnati crushed Kansas 64-49.

The three titans of Ohio basketball weren't the only ones tangling with impressive opponents.

Ohio University, which barely nipped winless Marshall Wednesday, led all the way to defeat Iowa 62-54 on the Hawkeyes' court; Keat State, playing its fourth big name opponent, lost its 29-game home winning streak for Western Kentucky and was the Hilltoppers' worst home defeat in 16 years.

Cincinnati's balanced offense again was the difference against Kansas as the Bearcats swept the Sunflower Doubleheader series — they beat Kansas State 75-61 Friday night. The victories upped Cincinnati's winning streak to 24.

Ohio State, after a week's lay-off for exams, made repeated errors and had to keep pushing back rallies by fired up Texas Christian, now winless in five starts. The Horned Frogs led only once but the Buckeyes were in trouble until the closing minutes.

Elsewhere around the state: Xavier defeated Jacksonville (Fl.) 103-94; Toledo clobbered to a 70-48 decision over Northern Illinois; Baldwin-Wallace fell 51-54 to South Carolina, and Steubenville ran up the highest score of the season for an Ohio team, swamping Mount State 120-62 to win the consolation game of the Wellsburg, W. Va., tournament.

Two games were played in the Ohio Conference.
Wittenberg's unbeaten Tigers jumped off to an early lead and never were headed as they defeated Marietta 63-46 for their 60th consecutive home victory.

In the other game, Denison pulled away in the second half to stop Heidelberg 68-50.

Forty games are on the state college cage card this week.

Bowling Green whipped Western Kentucky 83-58, the first time the Falcons have ever won at Bowling Green, Ky. Ohio State ended its current home stand with a 74-62 decision over stubborn Texas Christian, and Cincinnati crushed Kansas 64-49.

The three tides of Ohio basketball weren't the only ones tangling with impressive opponents.

Ohio University, which barely nipped winless Marshall Wednesday, led all the way to defeat Iowa 62-54 on the Hawkeyes' court; Kent State, playing its fourth big name opponent, lost its fourth game to St. Bonaventure, 92-67; Wisconsin overpowered rebuilding Miami 84-58, and some frigid shooting led Dayton to a 75-58 defeat at the hands of unbeaten Seattle.

Nate Thurmond, Bowling Green 6-foot-11 star, scored 25 points and grabbed 28 rebounds in the Falcons' victory. The win snapped a 29-game home winning streak for Western Kentucky and was the hilltoppers' worst home defeat in 16 years.

Cincinnati's balanced offense again was the difference against Kansas as the Bearcats swept the Sunflower Doubleheader series — they beat Kansas State 75-61 Friday night. The victories upped Cincinnati's winning streak to 24.

Ohio State, after a week's lay-off for exams, made repeated errors and had to keep pushing back rallies by fired up Texas Christian, now winless in five starts. The Horned Frogs led only once but the Buckeyes were in trouble until the closing minutes.

Elsewhere around the state; Xavier defeated Jacksonville (Fl.) 103-94; Toledo ousted to a 70-48 decision over Northern Illinois; Baldwin-Wallace led 67-54 to South Carolina, and Steubenville ran up the highest score of the season for an Ohio team, swamping Mount State 120-62 to win the consolation game of the Wellsburg, W. Va., tournament.

Two games were played in the Ohio Conference.

Wittenberg's unbeaten Tigers jumped off to an early lead and never were headed as they defeated Marietta 63-46 for their 60th consecutive home victory.

In the other game, Denison pulled away in the second half to stop Heidelberg 68-50.

Forty games are on the state college cage card this week.

Bloodmobile Visit Collects 105 Pints of Blood Friday

DR. H. W. FRAAS

JERRY WOLFORD

JOE MOGAN

The Red Cross Bloodmobile collected 105 pints of blood Friday during its regular visit to Circleville at the First Methodist Church.

Robert Johnson, Blood program chairman, reported today that 119 prospective donors visited the Bloodmobile.

The canteen was operated by Mrs. Boyd Stout, Mrs. C. O. Schweizer, Mrs. D. A. Marshall, Mrs. Cliff Hedges, and Miss Nellie Bolder.

Registration was under the direction of Mrs. B. B. Defenbaugh, Mrs. Lewis Young, Miss Florence Reed, Mrs. Charles Walker, Mrs. Howard Huston and Mrs. Montford Kirkwood.

TEMPERATURES were taken by Mrs. Walter Ehmling. Registered nurses on hand included Mrs. Robert Denman.

Six Accidents, One Injured

Only one injury was reported in six traffic accidents investigated by Circleville Police during the weekend and today.

Suffering a whip-lash injury of the neck was John Wolford, 29, of 936 Lincoln Drive. Officers said his auto was struck in the rear by a car driven by Franklin W. Martin, 18, Route 4.

The accident came at 12:40 p.m. Saturday at N. Court St. and Montclair Ave. Three other collisions were reported that day and two today.

Sgt. Turney Ross said both the Wolford and Martin vehicles suffered extensive damage. Martin was cited for failure to have assured clear distance ahead, the officer said.

FB Unit Conducts Christmas Meeting

The Womens Committee of the Pickaway County Farm Bureau conducted its annual Christmas Luncheon Saturday at the Pickaway Arms.

Addressing the assembled group were Jean Werts of the Ohio Farm Bureau and Mrs. H. O. Caldwell of Harrison Twp., a former chairman of the Pickaway County unit.

Introduced were Mrs. Dorsey Bumgarner, this year's retiring chairman, and Mary Clark, chairman for the coming year.

Ohio Air Guard Units Receive Commendation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's 121st Tactical Fighter Wing of the Air National Guard has received its official thank you for its year of active duty during the Berlin crisis—five Air Force commendation medals and a scroll of appreciation.

The overseas detachment of the activated Ohio Air National Guard, composed primarily of officers and enlisted personnel from Lockbourne Air Force Base near Columbus, also received a scroll of appreciation for outstanding support provided to the U.S. 7th Army in Europe during the unit's tour of active duty at Etain Air Base, France.

JFK Appears To Tag Rocky As His Opponent for 1964

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy apparently has reached the conclusion — if he had any doubts—that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York will be his 1964 opponent for the presidency.

This was the planatio in political circles for Kennedy's aiming a series of barbs at the Republican governor in his Friday night speech to the Economic Club in New York.

Because New York will be one of the principal battlegrounds in the 1964 presidential contest, politicians busied themselves comparing the positions of the two men on major issues. They found them far apart on New York matters but remarkably close on some national economic problems.

Kennedy told the Economic Club the rate of insured unemployment in New York has been persistently higher than the national average.

In his latest pronouncement on national issues — before the National Association of Manufacturers on Dec. 5—Rockefeller said the state's unemployment rate "has been less than the national rate for 23 of the last 28 months."

Presumably both men could be right. Kennedy was talking about the number drawing unemployment compensation. Rockefeller was talking about the number of jobless.

Kennedy went on to say that the "increases in personal income and employment have both been slower here (in New York state) than in the nation as a whole."

Rockefeller said that while the rate of increase in "the real personal income" of the people of New York, had lagged behind the national average during the prior state democratic administration, "in the past four years it has been increasing more rapidly than the national rate."

Rockefeller said that while the rate of increase in "the real personal income" of the people of New York, had lagged behind the national average during the prior state democratic administration, "in the past four years it has been increasing more rapidly than the national rate."

Kennedy said expenditures in state government in New York "have risen in recent years at the rate of roughly 10 per cent a year." He said in nine years civilian expenditures in the federal government have increased an average of 7.5 per cent a year.

Rockefeller offered no comparable figures. But he said state aid to public schools had been increased 60 per cent in four years, aid to higher education by 260 per cent and highway construction mileage had been tripled.

There were a number of things on which the potential 1964 rivals seemed agreed.

Both expressed concern about the balance of international payments. Both opposed inflationary actions. Both said profit margins must be improved. Both rejected deficit spending as a cure for the lagging economy.
